CAR DEMOLISHED

Freight Train Strikes Motor Vehicle at Grade Crossing.

Bessie, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Robinson, who reside on a farm about a mile west of Signal, was killed yesterday, when a Ford touring car, driven by her mother, was struck by a Pittsburgh, Lisbon & Western railroad freight at a crossing near Signal.

Mrs. Robinson and a year-old child, who were thrown clear of the tracks, escaped with minor injuries.

Father Is Railroad Worker.

The locomotive demolished the car, the four-year-old girl being hurtled directly in the train's path. The child was decapitated.

Mrs. Robinson and her two children were returning to their home following a trip to Signal when the accident occurred.

TRUCKS CRASH; MAN MAY DIE

Miles Baughman, 35, Gardendale, Injured in Lisbon Accident.

Thrown beneath the wheels of a Bell Telephone company truck in Lisbon this morning, when the small car he was driving was caught between the Bell company's truck and a huge tractor auto, Miles F. Baughman, 35 years old, foundry worker, of Gardendale, received injuries which, it was reported at noon, may cause his death.

Baughman is in the Salem City hospital. A preliminary examination showed a fractured skull and other injuries.

Baughman, according to reports, undertook to pass the phone company's machine, and apparently did not see the transfer truck operated by the J. W. Kinney Co., of Pittsburgh, approaching in the opposite direction. Baughman's small car was caught between the two large trucks and crushed, and he was hurled beneath the wheels of the machine he had tried to pass.

Unconscious, he was taken to the office of Dr. H. S. Maxwell, Lisbon, and a few minutes later was removed to Salem.

Baughman was attired in hunting clothes and carried a gun and lunch. The Kinney transfer truck was driven by John Dyaza and his assistant, John Toth, both of Allegheny, Pa. The phone company auto was driven by Bert Clark, of Minerva street, East Liverpool.

Authorities, it is claimed, have practically exonorated the drivers of the respective trucks from blame in connection with the accident.

Ewell Family Goes to Florida

Mcpherson Ewell and family, of Gardendale street, left today for Orlando, Florida, where they will make their future home. Mr. Ewell, until recently, was associated with the East Liverpool Sand and Gravel company.

VETERAN LABOR LEADER DIES ON TRAIN NEAR MEXICAN TOWN

ON WAY HOME

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 11.—Samuel Gompers, 74-year-old president of the American Federation of Labor, died this morning at San Nicolas, a small town near San Luis Potosi, according to a message received here today by the labor leader's friends.

Gompers' heart was unable to function as he was being taken over a high mountain range, the message stated. Gompers was enroute by train to the United States. He had suffered a relapse yesterday and was being rushed home.

Immediately the dispatches stating the labor president was dead reached Mexico City, officials at once tried to get in touch with the train to obtain further details, but they were unsuccessful.

Loses Race Against Death.

The mountain range in the vicinity of San Nicolas is the highest along the route of the International and Great Northern railroad to the United States. Gompers was being rushed to a lower altitude.

The message reporting Gompers' death said that three physicians were attending the noted American labor leader and had used every device to keep him alive until a lower altitude was reached.

Gompers was stricken with a heart affliction when he came here recently to attend the inauguration of President Calles and yesterday he suffered a relapse. It was decided by his friends to rush him to the United States in the hope that the lower altitude would improve his condition. The path of the train led through the highest mountainous sections of Mexico.

Once Immigrant Boy.

The life of Samuel Gompers is the story of the rise of a poor immigrant boy to a position of power, comparative affluence, and a domination in the labor world such as no man before him ever had.

He has been aptly called the "father of the American labor movement." Whether the description fit or not, certainly he fathered, mothered and nursed the American Federation of Labor from a somewhat sickly infant organization in the early 80's to its present fullbodied strength.

He gave his life to it. He helped found it, and for 40 years he headed it as president, weathering storm after storm, defeating enemy after enemy, whether within or without the organization. He must have found

UNTIE PURSE STRINGS FOR TWO WIDOWS AND FOUR FATHERLESS TOTS

SALVATION ARMY AND ELKS' LODGE CO-OPERATE IN RELIEF MOVEMENT

Five-dollar Contributions by C. A. Bough and George Viney Head List as Grandmother and Mother Struggle to Provide Food and Shelter After Death Takes Breadwinners.

Their hearts touched by the plight of Mrs. Matilda Welling, her four fatherless children and their widowed grandmother, Mrs. Henrietta Lemley, who face a sad Christmas unless Santa Claus finds them, East Liverpool people today began to untie their purse strings in an effort to raise funds to liquidate a $600 mortgage to save the little home at 1731 Globe street, East End.

The Review-Tribune will act as trustee of the fund which is expected to be subscribed in time to be presented before Christmas to the family, twice visited by death in the last four years.

C. A. Bough, cooperage shop owner, and George Viney, manager of Guttridge & Rand, Diamond clothiers, headed the subscription list with $5 each today.

Adjutant John G. Dean, of the Salvation Army, announced that he sent a supply of groceries to the home on Monday, planned a second visit today to ascertain further needs and would arrange to provide their Christmas dinner.

Interest Is Guaranteed.

Representatives of East Liverpool lodge No. 258, B. P. O. Elks, said arrangements would be made to include the four Welling children among those to whom gifts will be distributed during the Yuletide.

R. G. Spencer, Fifth street photographer, it is understood, has assured representatives of a local savings and loan company that steps will be taken to meet the delinquent interest on the mortgage on which no payment has been made in the last 18 months.

Neighbors, too, have been and will continue to aid.

Appeal for Contributions.

Robert Welling, the father, who was a saggermaker in a local pottery, died March 9, 1921, leaving a widow and three small children. Six months later the stork again visited the home.

Last May 7, Perry Lemley, father of Mrs. Welling and husband of Mrs. Henrietta Lemley, an aged woman, died, leaving the support of the six surviving members of the two families dependant upon the meagre earnings of the two women.

While the grandmother worked part time as a brusher in a pottery warehouse, the mother did washings at home. In recent weeks, lack of employment has decreased the earnings, so that the family is dependent upon charity for maintenance.

The loan company, despite the nonpayment of interest, not to mention anything on the principal of the $600 loan, has been lenient. However, unless steps are taken to meet the mortgage, foreclosure may result.

Contributions mailed to the Welling Relief Fund Editor of the Review-Tribune will be turned over to the family.

Coolidge Dime Feeds Hungry Man, Then Comes Back

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—A bad penny, it is said, always turns up.

The following letter, received by President Coolidge today under date of Racine, Wisconsin, December 9, is self-explanatory.

"Dear Cal:

"Wishing you a merry Christmas and a happy New Year.

"You do not know me but one day before you was elected I was walking in back of you. You dropped a dime but you did not notice it. I picked it up and kept it because I was hungry. It got me a hot cup of coffee and two rolls. Well I have plenty of dimes now so I am returning one in the place of yours.

First National Bank Distributed 2,600 Certificates.

Christmas Savings clubs conducted by East Liverpool banking institutions increased their total to $217,000 today with announcement that checks totaling approximately $87,000 would be distributed next Monday by the Union Savings & Loan company.

The First National bank paid out approximately $130,000 to some 2,600 club members yesterday. The Union Savings & Loan company, which inaugurated the Christmas Savings club here several years ago, had about 1,950 depositors this year. The average payment was approximately $44.60.

Christmas savings accounts at the Union Savings & Loan company last year totaled $112,000. This concern, however, was the only financial institution in the city operating the plan in 1923, the First National bank having entered the field this year.

Banking experts have estimated that approximately one-half of the money paid out in Christmas Savings accounts is spent in Yuletide shopping. This rate holding true, approximately $108,000 will be placed in circulation in the city within the next

ROBBER STABS YOUNGSTOWN MAN

YOUNGSTOWN, Dec. 11.—In a bold daylight robbery today, Leonard Tomaso, 48, was stabbed in both shoulders by a highwayman. Tomaso failed to hold up his hands as commanded and started to run. The bandit pursued him, and stabbed him with a knife. Tomaso will recover.

New Water Plant Equipment Saves $10,000 Annually

Installation of boiler stokers and water softening equipment, which, it is claimed, will save $10,000 annually in furnishing water to East Liverpool consumers, has been completed at the municipal water works plant.

The improvements cost approximately $5,000. The stokers, which mechanically fire the boilers, will reduce the fuel bill. Acids and other impurities, which cause hundreds of dollars to be spent in boiler repairs each year, are being removed through the use of the softening equipment.

Service Director Ellis today issued an invitation to the public to inspect the equipment.

12 Men Indicted In Liquor Running Case are Arraigned

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Dec. 11.—The twelve men indicted in New Jersey's $50,000,000 rum running investigation were arraigned today before County Judge Egan on charges of malfeasance in office, conspiracy to violate the state prohibition law, and, in the case of one, bribery. Each pleaded not guilty.

Wm. E. Griffin, Jersey City broker, and alleged to be the "boss bootlegger" was charged with bribery."

POWER PLANT CHIEF FATALLY HURT IN FALL

BACK IS BROKEN

Thrown From Tree When he Touches Live Wire.

Merle Malone, 25, chief electrican at the Columbiana Electric light plant, died in the City hospital at Salem yesterday afternoon, as a result of a broken back suffered in a fall from a tree while repairing damage to wires in Columbiana.

Malone, believed to have been stunned when he came in contact with a live wire which was hanging in the tree, fell 12 feet to the ground, alighting on his back.

He was removed to the Charles Hoskinson home in Columbiana and later taken to the Salem hospital.

Homer Harrold was working with Malone when the accident occurred.

Malone is survived by a three-old daughter, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Malone, and a sister, Mrs. Edith Tusick, of Lisbon, and two brothers, Jesse, of Lisbon, and Lawrence, of Wellsville.

Funeral services will be held at the [illegible] funeral home in Columbiana at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. Rev. S. B. Garrett, pastor of the Columbiana Christian church, will officiate. Burial will be made in the Columbiana Cemetery.

GIBBONS WILL TACKLE DEMPSEY

CHICAGO, Dec. 11.—A heavyweight championship battle, between Jack Dempsey and Tommy Gibbons will be staged by Tex Rickard "somewhere" in the east, July 4.

This announcement was made here today by Gibbons when he arrived with his wife, babies and manager, enroute to his home in St. Paul, from New York, where he knocked out Kid Norfolk in six r[illegible]s.

Auto Victim Goes To Church After East End Crash

Despite the fact that she was struck and knocked to the street by an automobile last night, her hip and leg severely bruised and her clothing torn, Miss Esther Dixon, of First Avenue, East End, continued on her way to the Second United Presbyterian church, attended prayer meeting and an after-session, and today bravely bearing the pain of her injuries, is going on with her classes at high school, where she is a student.

The driver of the small car which struck Miss Dixon on Mulberry street as she was crossing, was not identified. According to the victim, the man stopped the car after it had struck the girl, leaned his head out and asked if she was hurt. When she told him she didn't think she was seriously injured, the motorist shut the door, stepped on the gas and drove away without extending the courtesy, it is said, of offering to assist Miss Dixon to her destination.

Youngstown Klan Chief Said to Have Fled to Canada

Linked with this sudden disappearance of Watkins were reports of a possible arrest upon a charge of violating the Mann White Slave act.

Watkins on Sundays preached at the Baptist church at Girard, five miles west of here, and by his oratory had built up a substantial congregation. His disappearance was first noted when he failed to appear for services there last Sunday.

Watkins was editor of a local Klan newspaper.

Watkins organized the Ohio State police, a body acting under an old statute, whose activities were made the subject of inquiry by the grand jury at Nile[illegible] which a week ago returned [illegible]dictments against 104 persons [illegible]harged with complicity in the [illegible]ots there November 1.

NEAR EAST AID ASKED AT MEET

Fund Representative Speaks at Kiwanis Luncheon.

An appeal for the Near East Relief fund, which is being raised throughout the United States, was voiced by James Blythe, Cleveland, field representative of the campaign organization, before members of the Kiwanis club and their guests at the noon luncheon in the Larkins Annex today.

Mr. Blythe recently visited the Near East. Thousands of women and children, he declared, are on the verge of starvation and 250,000 will die this winter if America fails to heed the plea for aid.

He announced that Near East Sunday would be observed in the churches during January. He asked for the co-operation of the club members in urging their ministers to permit the use of their pulpits for speakers, who will be sent here.

The luncheon was attended by about 50 members of the club and nearly a dozen guests. Olen Dawson, club president, presided, while the chorus singing was led by Prof. Hugh F. Laughlin. Mr. Blythe was intro-

Mrs. Robinson and a year-old child, who were thrown clear of the tracks, escaped with minor injuries.

Father is Railroad Worker.

The locomotive demolished the car, the four-year-old girl being hurtled directly in the train's path. The child was decapitated.

Mrs. Robinson and her two children were returning to their home following a trip to Signal when the accident occurred.

TRUCKS CRASH; MAN MAY DIE

Miles Baughman, 35, Gardendale, Injured in Lisbon Accident.

Thrown beneath the wheels of a Bell Telephone company truck in Lisbon this morning, when the small car he was driving was caught between the Bell company's truck and a huge transfer auto, Miles F. Baughman, 35 years old, foundry worker, of Gardendale, received injuries which, it was reported at noon, may cause his death.

Baughman is in the Salem City hospital. A preliminary examination showed a fractured skull and other injuries.

Baughman, according to reports, undertook to pass the phone company's machine, and apparently did not see the transfer truck operated by the J. W. Kinney Co., of Pittsburgh, approaching in the opposite direction. Baughman's small car was caught between the two large trucks and crushed, and he was hurled beneath the wheels of the machine he had tried to pass.

Unconscious, he was taken to the office of Dr. H. S. Maxwell, Lisbon, and a few minutes later was removed to Salem.

Baughman was attired in hunting clothes and carried a gun and lunch. The Kinney transfer truck was driven by John Dyaza and his assistant, John Toth, both of Allegheny, Pa. The phone company auto was driven by Bert Clark, of Minerva street, East Liverpool.

Authorities, it is claimed, have practically exonerated the drivers of the respective trucks from blame in connection with the accident.

First National Bank Distributed 2,600 Certificates.

Christmas Savings clubs conducted by East Liverpool banking institutions increased their total to $217,000 today with announcement that checks totaling approximately $87,000 would be distributed next Monday by the Union Savings & Loan company.

The First National bank paid out approximately $130,000 to some 2,600 club members yesterday. The Union Savings & Loan company, which inaugurated the Christmas Savings club here several years ago, had about 1,950 depositors this year. The average payment was approximately $44.60.

Christmas savings accounts at the Union Savings & Loan company last year totaled $112,000. This concern, however, was the only financial institution in the city operating the plan in 1923, the First National bank having entered the field this year.

Banking experts have estimated that approximately one-half of the money paid out in Christmas Savings accounts is spent in Yuletide shopping. This rate holding true, approximately $108,000 will be placed in circulation in the city within the next

New Water Plant Equipment Saves $10,000 Annually

Installation of boiler stokers and water softening equipment, which, it is claimed, will save $10,000 annually in furnishing water to East Liverpool consumers, has been completed at the municipal water works plant.

The improvements cost approximately $5,000. The stokers, which mechanically fire the boilers, will reduce the fuel bill. Acids and other impurities, which cause hundreds of dollars to be spent in boiler repairs each year, are being removed through the use of the softening equipment.

Service Director Ellis today issued an invitation to the public to inspect the equipment.

VETERAN LABOR LEADER DIES ON TRAIN NEAR MEXICAN TOWN

ON WAY HOME

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 11.—Samuel Gompers, 74-year-old president of the American Federation of Labor, died this morning at San Nicolas, a small town near San Luis Potosi, according to a message received here today by the labor leader's friends.

Gompers' heart was unable to function as he was being taken over a high mountain range, the message stated. Gompers was enroute by train to the United States. He had suffered a relapse yesterday and was being rushed home.

Immediately the dispatches stating the labor president was dead reached Mexico City, officials at once tried to get in touch with the train to obtain further details, but they were unsuccessful.

Loses Race Against Death.

The mountain range in the vicinity of San Nicolas is the highest along the route of the International and Great Northern railroad to the United States. Gompers was being rushed to a lower altitude.

The message reporting Gompers' death said that three physicians were attending the noted American labor leader and had used every device to keep him alive until a lower altitude was reached.

Gompers was stricken with a heart affliction when he came here recently to attend the inauguration of President Calles and yesterday he suffered a relapse. It was decided by his friends to rush him to the United States in the hope that the lower altitude would improve his condition. The path of the train led through the highest mountainous sections of Mexico.

Once Immigrant Boy.

The life of Samuel Gompers is the story of the rise of a poor immigrant boy to a position of power, comparative affluence, and a domination in the labor world such as no man before him ever had.

He has been aptly called the "father of the American labor movement." Whether the description fit or not, certainly he fathered, mothered and nursed the American Federation of Labor from a somewhat sickly infant organization in the early 80's to its present fullbodied strength.

He gave his life to it. He helped found it, and for 40 years he headed it as president, weathering storm after storm, defeating enemy after enemy, whether within or without the organization. He must have found

Despite the fact that she was struck and knocked to the street by an automobile last night, her hip and leg severely bruised and her clothing torn, Miss Esther Dixon, of First Avenue, East End, continued on her way to the Second United Presbyterian church, attended prayer meeting and an after-session, and today bravely bearing the pain of her injuries, is going on with her classes at high school, where she is a student.

The driver of the small car which struck Miss Dixon on Mulberry street as she was crossing, was not identified. According to the victim, the man stopped the car after it had struck the girl, leaned his head out and asked if she was hurt. When she told him she didn't think she was seriously injured, the motorist shut the door, stepped on the gas and drove away without extending the courtesy, it is said, of offering to assist Miss Dixon to her destination.

UNTIE PURSE STRINGS FOR TWO WIDOWS AND FOUR FATHERLESS TOTS

SALVATION ARMY AND ELKS' LODGE CO-OPERATE IN RELIEF MOVEMENT

Five-dollar Contributions by C. A. Bough and George Viney Head List as Grandmother and Mother Struggle to Provide Food and Shelter After Death Takes Breadwinners.

Their hearts touched by the plight of Mrs. Matilda Welling, her four fatherless children and their widowed grandmother, Mrs. Henrietta Lemley, who face a sad Christmas unless Santa Claus finds them, East Liverpool people today began to untie their purse strings in an effort to raise funds to liquidate a $600 mortgage to save the little home at 1731 Globe street, East End.

The Review-Tribune will act as trustee of the fund which is expected to be subscribed in time to be presented before Christmas to the family, twice visited by death in the last four years.

C. A. Bough, cooperage shop owner, and George Viney, manager of Guttridge & Rand, Diamond clothiers, headed the subscription list with $5 each today.

Adjutant John G. Dean, of the Salvation Army, announced that he sent a supply of groceries to the home on Monday, planned a second visit today to ascertain further needs and would arrange to provide their Christmas dinner.

Interest Is Guaranteed.

Representatives of East Liverpool lodge No. 258, B. P. O. Elks, said arrangements would be made to include the four Welling children among those to whom gifts will be distributed during the Yuletide.

R. G. Spencer, Fifth street photographer, it is understood, has assured representatives of a local savings and loan company that steps will be taken to meet the delinquent interest on the mortgage on which no payment has been made in the last 18 months.

Neighbors, too, have been and will continue to aid.

Appeal for Contributions.

Robert Welling, the father, who was a saggermaker in a local pottery, died March 9, 1921, leaving a widow and three small children. Six months later the stork again visited the home.

Last May 7, Perry Lemley, father of Mrs. Welling and husband of Mrs. Henrietta Lemley, an aged woman, died, leaving the support of the six surviving members of the two families dependant upon the meagre earnings of the two women.

While the grandmother worked part time as a brusher in a pottery warehouse, the mother did washings at home. In recent weeks, lack of employment has decreased the earnings, so that the family is dependent upon charity for maintenance.

The loan company, despite the nonpayment of interest, not to mention anything on the principal of the $600 loan, has been lenient. However, unless steps are taken to meet the mortgage, foreclosure may result.

Contributions mailed to the Welling Relief Fund Editor of the Review-Tribune will be turned over to the family.

Youngstown Klan Chief Said to Have Fled to Canada

Linked with this sudden disappearance of Watkins were reports of a possible arrest upon a charge of violating the Mann White Slave act.

Watkins on Sundays preached at the Baptist church at Girard, five miles west of here, and by his oratory had built up a substantial congregation. His disappearance was first noted when he failed to appear for services there last Sunday.

Watkins was editor of a local Klan newspaper.

Watkins organized the Ohio State police, a body acting under an old statute, whose activities were made the subject of inquiry by the grand jury at Niles which a week ago returned indictments against 104 persons charged with complicity in the riots there November 1.

Coolidge Dime Feeds Hungry Man, Then Comes Back

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—A bad penny, it is said, always turns up. White House officials today paraphrased this axiom to read: "A Coolidge dime always comes back."

The following letter, received by President Coolidge today under date of Racine, Wisconsin, December 9, is self-explanatory.

"Dear Cal:

"Wishing you a merry Christmas and a happy New Year.

"You do not know me but one day before you was elected I was walking in back of you. You dropped a dime but you did not notice it. I picked it up and kept it because I was hungry. It got me a hot cup of coffee and two rolls. Well I have plenty of dimes now so I am returning one in the place of yours.

"Yours truly,
"A Friend."

NEAR EAST AID ASKED AT MEET

Fund Representative Speaks at Kiwanis Luncheon.

An appeal for the Near East Relief fund, which is being raised throughout the United States, was voiced by James Blythe, Cleveland, field representative of the campaign organization, before members of the Kiwanis club and their guests at the noon luncheon in the Larkins Annex today.

Mr. Blythe recently visited the Near East. Thousands of women and children, he declared, are on the verge of starvation and 250,000 will die this winter if America fails to heed the plea for aid.

He announced that Near East Sunday would be observed in the churches during January. He asked for the co-operation of the club members in urging their ministers to permit the use of their pulpits for speakers, who will be sent here.

The luncheon was attended by about 50 members of the club and nearly a dozen guests. Olen Dawson, club president, presided, while the chorus singing was led by Prof. Hugh F. Laughlin. Mr. Blythe was intro-

LA FOLLETTE'S AIDES TO MEET

Third Party Movement Purpose of Session in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—Leaders of the progressive movement which supported the Independent Presidential candidacy of Senator Robert M. La Follette, of Wisconsin, were gathering in Washington today for the opening tomorrow of the meeting of the executive committee of the Conference for Progressive Political Action.

Under instructions from its convention last June, the committee is charged particularly with making recommendations on the establishment of a permanent new third party in the United States.

Four major things are to be considered by the committee, William M. Johnston, chairman and President of the International Association of Machinists, announced today. These are:

2—Review of the La Follette campaign.

3—Recommendations for the establishment of a third party.

4—Recommendations for participation in National and State elections.

Johnson himself expressed belief that the La Follette campaign had demonstrated not only the need of a new political alignment but that the "time now is ripe for the launching of a new party movement, a movement composed chiefly of the American workers and other progressive minded citizens of the country."

YULE DINNER FUND HITS $243

Salvation Army Kettles on Streets—Canvass Potteries.

Kettles are being maintained in four downtown locations, to remain there, Sunday excepted, until Christmas. Additional collectors will be sent to East End and Wellsville on the Saturday preceding Christmas, Adjutant John G. Dean said.

A committee of workers, who are canvassing pottery workers, reported subscriptions totalling $161.40 during the first three days of their campaign. This, together with the money collected in the kettles Saturday, brings the contributions up to $243.19. Salvation Army workers seek $3,000 to finance their relief activities.

Letters have been sent out to business men and manufacturers of the district, asking for contributions. Returns through the mails are expected to start coming in by the latter part of the week.

few days. The remaining one-half, statistics show, is returned to banks on savings accounts, used for tax payments, insurance, premiums, home improvements, etc.

Both the Union Savings and Loan company and the First National bank have made arrangements for increased facilities in handling Christmas Savings Accounts next year. The First National Bank opened the 1925 club as soon as this year's checks were sent out. The Union Savings and Loan Company will start to enroll members in the 1925 club beginning Monday. All accounts of this kind at both institutions draw interest at the rate of four percent. Depositors, however, who failed to pay up their accounts in full receive no interest on their deposits.

Suffered With Piles For Years

Says Hamadala Has Cured Him

3152 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y.,
August 15, 1924.

Gentlemen—I have been troubled with piles for twelve or thirteen years and although I consulted several of the best recommended physicians, and used various salves prescribed by them as remedies, I was never able to obtain relief.

I am therefore writing this letter with the absolute belief that Hamadala Tablets have positively and permanently corrected my trouble.

JOHN A. McALLISTER.

Samuel Gompers

satisfaction that under his skillful pilotage the organization is the largest labor organization in the world, in membership and influence on the economic life of any country.

American historians will accord Samuel Gompers an important place in the history of the republic in the half century between the Civil war and the World war.

Born In London.

Gompers was born in London in 1850, the son of Dutch-Jewish parents. He left school at an early age and became a Cigarmaker's apprentice, emigrating to America early in his teens. Here in the new world he found the movement toward labor organizing just begun. He threw himself into it with all his youthful enthusiasm and native ability.

He rapidly rose to the Presidency of his local, became one of the charter members of the present American Federation of Labor and in 1882, at barely over 30, he became its president. He was re-elected annually thereafter until his death—a span of 42 years—which saw the labor movement rise and fall like the tides of the ocean. His last election took place at El Paso only a few weeks ago.

He ruled the federation with an iron hand—or did until advancing years took their toll and brought up a new crop of younger leaders who in recent years have dominated the organization. But they never stripped the "old man," as he was affectionately called, of all of his power and he continued a dominant leader until his death.

Writer And Speaker.

Gompers' battle on behalf of labor did not end with his presidency of the Federation. He was prolific as a writer and speaker and for 40 years in print and from the platform, he hammered away at his task of improving the economic and social position of men who toil with their hands.

Much of Gompers' success in building up his organization was due to his canny political sense. He early determined upon a non-partisan attitude in national elections and while he, himself, was often strongly partisan, his organization seldom was. The Federation was more partisan in 1924 than ever before in its history, going over to La Follette lock, stock and barrel. This was due to a considerable extent to the younger leaders who came up from the ranks to challenge the "old man's" domination and diction.

From the time of its organization, the American Federation of Labor was almost constantly in litigation. Capital, in the 80s did not recognize labor's right to collective bargaining as it does today, nor did the courts themselves. Time and again Gompers was sentenced to jail for contempt of court, for disregard of injunctions and for other reasons, but always in the end he managed to win out.

Once Sentenced to Prison.

There reposes in the United States Supreme Court a case and appeal, wherein Gompers was sentenced to serve a year in the penitentiary for contempt of court. This arose out of the old Buck Stove and Range company fight in St. Louis nearly twenty years ago. It has never been decided.

One of the greatest blows Gompers ever sustained was in the famous McNamara case, wherein the brothers were tried and convicted of dynamiting the Los Angeles Times building. Gompers denounced their arrest as "a plot to discredit labor," and he backed their defense with American Federation of Labor funds and with every resource at his command. The confessions were a severe blow to him.

"Labor has been deceived," he said. To the day of his death he never liked to talk about the McNamara case.

Gompers was an important national figue during the World war, which he supported. When the cry came for industrial output beyond anything ever dreamed of, Gompers turned all the resources of his organization toward speeding up work in factory and shipyard. He went to Paris after the war as a member of the Wilson peace commission.

200 Attend Supper In M. E. Church and Hear Program Plans

Two hundred persons attended a "get-to-gether" meeting and supper in the First Methodist Episcopal church last evening. The supper was served by the ladies of the church.

Dr. Frank G. Fowler, pastor, outlined the program for the next three months, in keeping with the recommendations of Bishop Henderson, of the Cincinnati area. This program will be culminated with an evangelistic campaign during the early spring. All church day activities hereafter will be centered on Wednesday which will be known as Church Day.

A double male quartet, led by Prof H. F. Laughlin, rendered several numbers, with Mrs. T. C. Flick as accompanist.

Dr. H. S. Powell, district superintendent of Steubenville, discussed "Methodism's Crown." He emphasized the need of evangelism.

Beginning with January, congregational dinners will be held at the church every Wednesday evening.

$550 Damage Verdict Against City Given Georgia Downard

Georgia Downard was given a damage verdict for $550 and costs against the city of East Liverpool by the jury in Judge Carl H. Smith's court at Lisbon, yesterday in the case in which she had demanded $20,000 to compensate her for personal injuries.

On New Year's day, last, as the plaintiff was walking along West Eighth street, she alleged she stepped into a broken place in the street, and falling, wrenched and dislocated her ankle so that she is premanently injured. She said on the witness stand that broken places in the paving, dangerous to pedestrians, had been left without either lights or barriers as warnings.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—While many of the most active stocks sold at lower prices in the first hour today, selling pressure was not renewed at the rate which prevailed yesterday and simultaneous rallies in all of the major divisions of the market showed that there had been no large accumulation of overnight selling orders.

Railroad stocks gave a good account of themselves in this period, with Chesapeake & Ohio and Baltimore & Ohio leading a moderate rally. Heavy buying of Chesapeake & Ohio, at the highest prices of the year is based on reports that the minority stockholders will force a better representation for this road in the proposed Nickle Plate amalgamation. Higher dividends are rumored for Baltimore & Ohio, Atchison and a number of other roads, whose stocks were in demand today.

The copper stocks showed a disposition to recover from the slump which was caused by Wednesday's heavy selling. Utah securities, up two points to a new high at 40½, was a leader in this movement, with Kennecot and Anaconda making fractional improvement. Cerro de Pasco was active at slightly higher prices, while Chile copper declined.

American Water Works at 28, up three points; Bosch Magneto at 34 and International Combustion Engineering were the most pominent of the specialty stocks. Mercantile company shares, though losing ground in the first hour, made a good recovery later in the session.

EMMONS CALLS CONSTITUENTS

Representative-elect Arranges Conferences for Saturday.

State Representative-elect Ralph W. Emmons of East Rochester, will visit here Saturday afternoon to confer with his constituents regarding legislative matters. He will be at the Travelers Hotel between 12 and 3 p. m. and any person wishing to meet him regarding proposals to be considered at the coming session of the Ohio assembly, is invited to call.

Emmons' election means that for the first time in the history of the state two brothers will sit together in the state house at Columbus early in January.

The Columbiana county man is a brother of V. D. Emmons of Akron, who has been returned to the state house of representatives for a third term. The East Rochester man carried the county over his Democratic opponent, C. E. Oliver, by a majority of 8,009 at the November election, while his brother was given a majority of 19,000 over his opponent by Summit county electors.

The younger Emmons has been connected with the Pennsylvania Railroad company, at East Rochester, for 20 years, serving as ticket agent. He has been clerk of the West Township board of trustees for 12 years and for 13 years has been clerk of the township board of education. He is a registered law student and a writer on taxation and agricultural subjects.

In the term just ended, the elder brother served on the state finance, soldiers' and sailors' orphans' home and city and village committees.

A year ago, on the same date, a City Ice and Products Co. milk wagon, driven by Ensinger, upset on Pennsylvania avenue, but he escaped injury.

DE MILLE CONQUERS STUPENDOUS TASKS IN 'TEN COMMANDMENTS' FILM

To put on the screen the grandiose early events of Bible history would seem a task beyond human power did not one have the record of what was done in California recently and will be presented to Ceramic theatre audiences in "The Ten Commandments" beginning Thursday evening and twice daily, Friday and Saturday, is what Cecil De Mille essayed:—

The Exodus of Israel from Egypt the land of bondage. The parting of the Red Sea. The destruction of Pharoah's chariots when the waters closed. The giving of the Commandments from Mount Sinai. The bacchanalian worship of the Golden Calf by the erring people. Heaven's terrible vengeance on the three thousand idolators.

First he built an Egyptian city in the deserts of central California, then the Court of Pharaoh where Moses announced the Ten Plagues and won his plea; "Let my people go!" Twenty-five hundred actors took part in these scenes, including two hundred and fifty Yemenite Jews from Palestine.

The passage of the Red Sea and the confounding of Pharaoh were accomplished by a cunning mingling of Nature and Art, the scenes being taken at Balboa Beach. Nearer Hollywood the graving by Moses of the Twin Tablets from the Divine letters in the sky was superably achieved. Finally in a great canyon the Golden Calf Idolatry was staged, with Moses descending from the Mount and a cyclonic windstorm and lightning stroke destroying the worshippers.

The immense work was preliminary to the filming of the modern story which deals with the effect of the Ten Commandments in the life of today. Among the eminent players who worked in one or other of the sequences were Theodore Roberts, Charles De Roche, Leatrice Joy, Rod La Rocque, Richard Dix, Nita Naldi, Agnes Ayres, Robert Edeson and Estelle Taylor.

LA FOLLETTE'S AIDES TO MEET

Third Party Movement Purpose of Session in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—Leaders of the progressive movement which supported the Independent Presidential candidacy of Senator Robert M. La Follette, of Wisconsin, were gathering in Washington today for the opening tomorrow of the meeting of the executive committee of the Conference for Progressive Political Action.

Under instructions from its convention last June, the committee is charged particularly with making recommendations on the establishment of a permanent new third party in the United States.

Four major things are to be considered by the committee, William M. Johnston, chairman and President of the International Association of Machinists, announced today. These are:

2—Review of the La Follette campaign.

3—Recommendations for the establishment of a third party.

4—Recommendations for participation in National and State elections.

Johnson himself expressed belief that the La Follette campaign had demonstrated not only the need of a new political alignment but that the "time now is ripe for the launching of a new party movement, a movement composed chiefly of the American workers and other progressive minded citizens of the country."

Suffered With Piles For Years

Says Hamadala Has Cured Him

3152 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y.,
August 15, 1924.

Gentlemen—I have been troubled with piles for twelve or thirteen years and although I consulted several of the best recommended physicians, and used various salves prescribed by them as remedies, I was never able to obtain relief.

Through an acquaintance I was advised to try Hamadala Pile Tablets, which I did. I took just one box. Nearly four months have elapsed since I stopped taking the tablets, and there is no sign of the piles returning. I am therefore writing this letter with the absolute belief that Hamadala Tablets have positively and permanently corrected my trouble.

Yours very truly,
JOHN A. McALLISTER.

Hamadala is an internal constitutional treatment for blind, bleeding or protruding piles. It is dispensed under refund guarantee by C. G. Anderson, J. D. Holloway and Carnahan's Drug Stores, and all good druggists. Out of town sufferers can obtain by mail. Price $1.00. The Hamadala Co., Box 445, Buffalo, N. Y.

Samuel Gompers

satisfaction that under his skillful pilotage the organization is the largest labor organization in the world, in membership and influence on the economic life of any country.

American historians will accord Samuel Gompers an important place in the history of the republic in the half century between the Civil war and the World war.

Born In London.

Gompers was born in London in 1850, the son of Dutch-Jewish parents. He left school at an early age and became a Cigarmaker's apprentice, emigrating to America early in his teens. Here in the new world he found the movement toward labor organizing just begun. He threw himself into it with all his youthful enthusiasm and native ability.

He rapidly rose to the Presidency of his local, became one of the charter members of the present American Federation of Labor and in 1882, at barely over 30, he became its president. He was re-elected annually thereafter until his death—a span of 42 years—which saw the labor movement rise and fall like the tides of the ocean. His last election took place at El Paso only a few weeks ago.

He ruled the federation with an iron hand—or did until advancing years took their toll and brought up a new crop of younger leaders who in recent years have dominated the organization. But they never stripped the "old man," as he was affectionately called, of all of his power and he continued a dominant leader until his death.

Writer And Speaker.

Gompers' battle on behalf of labor did not end with his presidency of the Federation. He was prolific as a writer and speaker and for 40 years in print and from the platform, he hammered away at his task of improving the economic and social position of men who toil with their hands

Much of Gompers' success in building up his organization was due to his canny political sense. He early determined upon a non-partisan attitude in national elections and while he, himself, was often strongly partisan, his organization seldom was. The Federation was more partisan in 1924 than ever before in its history, going over to La Follette lock, stock and barrel. This was due to a considerable extent to the younger leaders who came up from the ranks to challenge the "old man's" domination and diction.

From the time of its organization, the American Federation of Labor was almost constantly in litigation. Capital, in the 80s did not recognize labor's right to collective bargaining as it does today, nor did the courts themselves. Time and again Gompers was sentenced to jail for contempt of court, for disregard of injunctions and for other reasons, but always in the end he managed to win out.

Once Sentenced to Prison.

There reposes in the United States Supreme Court a case and appeal, wherein Gompers was sentenced to serve a year in the penitentiary for contempt of court. This arose out of the old Buck Stove and Range company fight in St. Louis nearly twenty years ago. It has never been decided.

One of the greatest blows Gompers ever sustained was in the famous McNamara case, wherein the brothers were tried and convicted of dynamiting the Los Angeles Times building. Gompers denounced their arrest as "a plot to discredit labor," and he backed their defense with American Federation of Labor funds and with every resource at his command. The confessions were a severe blow to him.

"Labor has been deceived," he said. To the day of his death he never liked to talk about the McNamara case.

Gompers was an important national figue during the World war, which he supported. When the cry came for industrial output beyond anything ever dreamed of, Gompers turned all the resources of his organization toward speeding up work in factory and shipyard. He went to Paris after the war as a member of the Wilson peace commission.

200 Attend Supper In M. E. Church and Hear Program Plans

Two hundred persons attended a "get-to-gether" meeting and supper in the First Methodist Episcopal church last evening. The supper was served by the ladies of the church.

Dr. Frank G. Fowler, pastor, outlined the program for the next three months, in keeping with the recommendations of Bishop Henderson, of the Cincinnati area. This program will be culminated with an evangelistic campaign during the early spring. All church day activities hereafter will be centered on Wednesday which will be known as Church Day.

A double male quartet, led by Prof H. F. Laughlin, rendered several numbers, with Mrs. T. C. Flick as accompanist.

Dr. H. S. Powell, district superintendent of Steubenville, discussed "Methodism's Crown." He emphasized the need of evangelism.

Beginning with January, congregational dinners will be held at the church every Wednesday evening.

Georgia Downard was given a damage verdict for $550 and costs against the city of East Liverpool by the jury in Judge Carl H. Smith's court at Lisbon, yesterday in the case in which she had demanded $20,000 to compensate her for personal injuries.

On New Year's day, last, as the plaintiff was walking along West Eighth street, she alleged she stepped into a broken place in the street, and falling, wrenched and dislocated her ankle so that she is premanently injured. She said on the witness stand that broken places in the paving, dangerous to pedestrians, had been left without either lights or barriers as warnings.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—While many of the most active stocks sold at lower prices in the first hour today, selling pressure was not renewed at the rate which prevailed yesterday and simultaneous rallies in all of the major divisions of the market showed that there had been no large accumulation of overnight selling orders.

Railroad stocks gave a good account of themselves in this period, with Chesapeake & Ohio and Baltimore & Ohio leading a moderate rally. Heavy buying of Chesapeake & Ohio, at the highest prices of the year is based on reports that the minority stockholders will force a better representation for this road in the proposed Nickle Plate amalgamation. Higher dividends are rumored for Baltimore & Ohio, Atchison and a number of other roads, whose stocks were in demand today.

The copper stocks showed a disposition to recover from the slump which was caused by Wednesday's heavy selling. Utah securities, up two points to a new high at 40½, was a leader in this movement, with Kennecot and Anaconda making fractional improvement. Cerro de Pasco was active at slightly higher prices, while Chile copper declined.

American Water Works at 28, up three points; Bosch Magneto at 34 and International Combustion Engineering were the most pominent of the specialty stocks. Mercantile company shares, though losing ground in the first hour, made a good recovery later in the session.

EMMONS CALLS CONSTITUENTS

Representative-elect Arranges Conferences for Saturday.

State Representative-elect Ralph W. Emmons of East Rochester, will visit here Saturday afternoon to confer with his constituents regarding legislative matters. He will be at the Travelers Hotel between 12 and 3 p. m. and any person wishing to meet him regarding proposals to be considered at the coming session of the Ohio assembly, is invited to call.

Emmons' election means that for the first time in the history of the state two brothers will sit together in the state house at Columbus early in January.

The Columbiana county man is a brother of V. D. Emmons of Akron, who has been returned to the state house of representatives for a third term. The East Rochester man carried the county over his Democratic opponent, C. E. Oliver, by a majority of 8,009 at the November election, while his brother was given a majority of 19,000 over his opponent by Summit county electors.

The younger Emmons has been connected with the Pennsylvania Railroad company, at East Rochester, for 20 years, serving as ticket agent. He has been clerk of the West Township board of trustees for 12 years and for 13 years has been clerk of the township board of education. He is a registered law student and a writer on taxation and agricultural subjects.

In the term just ended, the elder brother served on the state finance, soldiers' and sailors' orphans' home and city and village committees.

A year ago, on the same date, a City Ice and Products Co. milk wagon, driven by Ensinger, upset on Pennsylvania avenue, but he escaped injury.

Suffered With Piles For Years

Says Hamadala Has Cured Him

3152 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y.,
August 15, 1924.

Gentlemen—I have been troubled with piles for twelve or thirteen years and although I consulted several of the best recommended physicians, and used various salves prescribed by them as remedies, I was never able to obtain relief.

Through an acquaintance I was advised to try Hamadala Pile Tablets, which I did. I took just one box. Nearly four months have elapsed since I stopped taking the tablets, and there is no sign of the piles returning. I am therefore writing this letter with the absolute belief that Hamadala Tablets have positively and permanently corrected my trouble.

Yours very truly,
JOHN A. McALLISTER.

Hamadala is an internal constitutional treatment for blind, bleeding or protruding piles. It is dispensed under refund guarantee by C. G. Anderson, J. D. Holloway and Carnahan's Drug Stores, and all good druggists. Out of town sufferers can obtain by mail. Price $1.00. The Hamadala Co., Box 445, Buffalo, N. Y.

Samuel Gompers

satisfaction that under his skillful pilotage the organization is the largest labor organization in the world, in membership and influence on the economic life of any country.

American historians will accord Samuel Gompers an important place in the history of the republic in the half century between the Civil war and the World war.

Born In London.

Gompers was born in London in 1850, the son of Dutch-Jewish parents. He left school at an early age and became a Cigarmaker's apprentice, emigrating to America early in his teens. Here in the new world he found the movement toward labor organizing just begun. He threw himself into it with all his youthful enthusiasm and native ability.

He rapidly rose to the Presidency of his local, became one of the charter members of the present American Federation of Labor and in 1882, at barely over 30, he became its president. He was re-elected annually thereafter until his death—a span of 42 years—which saw the labor movement rise and fall like the tides of the ocean. His last election took place at El Paso only a few weeks ago.

He ruled the federation with an iron hand—or did until advancing years took their toll and brought up a new crop of younger leaders who in recent years have dominated the organization. But they never stripped the "old man," as he was affectionately called, of all of his power and he continued a dominant leader until his death.

Writer And Speaker.

Gompers' battle on behalf of labor did not end with his presidency of the Federation. He was prolific as a writer and speaker and for 40 years in print and from the platform, he hammered away at his task of improving the economic and social position of men who toil with their hands.

Much of Gompers' success in building up his organization was due to his canny political sense. He early determined upon a non-partisan attitude in national elections and while he, himself, was often strongly partisan, his organization seldom was. The Federation was more partisan in 1924 than ever before in its history, going over to La Follette lock, stock and barrel. This was due to a considerable extent to the younger leaders who came up from the ranks to challenge the "old man's" domination and diction.

From the time of its organization, the American Federation of Labor was almost constantly in litigation. Capital, in the 80s did not recognize labor's right to collective bargaining as it does today, nor did the courts themselves. Time and again Gompers was sentenced to jail for contempt of court, for disregard of injunctions and for other reasons, but always in the end he managed to win out.

Once Sentenced to Prison.

There reposes in the United States Supreme Court a case and appeal, wherein Gompers was sentenced to serve a year in the penitentiary for contempt of court. This arose out of the old Buck Stove and Range company fight in St. Louis nearly twenty years ago. It has never been decided.

One of the greatest blows Gompers ever sustained was in the famous McNamara case, wherein the brothers were tried and convicted of dynamiting the Los Angeles Times building. Gompers denounced their arrest as "a plot to discredit labor," and he backed their defense with American Federation of Labor funds and with every resource at his command. The confessions were a severe blow to him.

"Labor has been deceived," he said. To the day of his death he never liked to talk about the McNamara case.

Gompers was an important national figue during the World war, which he supported. When the cry came for industrial output beyond anything ever dreamed of, Gompers turned all the resources of his organization toward speeding up work in factory and shipyard. He went to Paris after the war as a member of the Wilson peace commission.

$550 Damage Verdict Against City Given Georgia Downard

Georgia Downard was given a damage verdict for $550 and costs against the city of East Liverpool by the jury in Judge Carl H. Smith's court at Lisbon, yesterday in the case in which she had demanded $20,000 to compensate her for personal injuries.

On New Year's day, last, as the plaintiff was walking along West Eighth street, she alleged she stepped into a broken place in the street, and falling, wrenched and dislocated her ankle so that she is premanently injured. She said on the witness stand that broken places in the paving, dangerous to pedestrians, had been left without either lights or barriers as warnings.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—While many of the most active stocks sold at lower prices in the first hour today, selling pressure was not renewed at the rate which prevailed yesterday and simultaneous rallies in all of the major divisions of the market showed that there had been no large accumulation of overnight selling orders.

Railroad stocks gave a good account of themselves in this period, with Chesapeake & Ohio and Baltimore & Ohio leading a moderate rally. Heavy buying of Chesapeake & Ohio, at the highest prices of the year is based on reports that the minority stockholders will force a better representation for this road in the proposed Nickle Plate amalgamation. Higher dividends are rumored for Baltimore & Ohio, Atchison and a number of other roads, whose stocks were in demand today.

The copper stocks showed a disposition to recover from the slump which was caused by Wednesday's heavy selling. Utah securities, up two points to a new high at 40½, was a leader in this movement, with Kennecot and Anaconda making fractional improvement. Cerro de Pasco was active at slightly higher prices, while Chile copper declined.

American Water Works at 28, up three points; Bosch Magneto at 34 and International Combustion Engineering were the most pominent of the specialty stocks. Mercantile company shares, though losing ground in the first hour, made a good recovery later in the session.

EMMONS CALLS CONSTITUENTS

Representative-elect Arranges Conferences for Saturday.

State Representative-elect Ralph W. Emmons of East Rochester, will visit here Saturday afternoon to confer with his constituents regarding legislative matters. He will be at the Travelers Hotel between 12 and 3 p. m. and any person wishing to meet him regarding proposals to be considered at the coming session of the Ohio assembly, is invited to call.

Emmons' election means that for the first time in the history of the state two brothers will sit together in the state house at Columbus early in January.

The Columbiana county man is a brother of V. D. Emmons of Akron, who has been returned to the state house of representatives for a third term. The East Rochester man carried the county over his Democratic opponent, C. E. Oliver, by a majority of 8,000 at the November election, while his brother was given a majority of 19,000 over his opponent by Summit county electors.

The younger Emmons has been connected with the Pennsylvania Railroad company, at East Rochester, for 20 years, serving as ticket agent. He has been clerk of the West Township board of trustees for 12 years and for 13 years has been clerk of the township board of education. He is a registered law student and a writer on taxation and agricultural subjects.

In the term just ended, the elder brother served on the state finance, soldiers' and sailors' orphans' home and city and village committees.

DE MILLE CONQUERS STUPENDOUS TASKS IN 'TEN COMMANDMENTS' FILM

To put on the screen the grandiose early events of Bible history would seem a task beyond human power did not one have the record of what was done in California recently and will be presented to Ceramic theatre audiences in "The Ten Commandments" beginning Thursday evening and twice daily, Friday and Saturday, is what Cecil De Mille essayed:—

The Exodus of Israel from Egypt the land of bondage. The parting of the Red Sea. The destruction of Pharoah's chariots when the waters closed. The giving of the Commandments from Mount Sinai. The bacchanalian worship of the Golden Calf by the erring people. Heaven's terrible vengeance on the three thousand idolators.

First he built an Egyptian city in the deserts of central California, then the Court of Pharaoh where Moses announced the Ten Plagues and won his plea; "Let my people go!" Twenty-five hundred actors took part in these scenes, including two hundred and fifty Yemenite Jews from Palestine.

The passage of the Red Sea and the confounding of Pharaoh were accomplished by a cunning mingling of Nature and Art, the scenes being taken at Balboa Beach. Nearer Hollywood the graving by Moses of the Twin Tablets from the Divine letters in the sky was superably achieved. Finally in a great canyon the Golden Calf idolatry was staged, with Moses descending from the Mount and a cyclonic windstorm and lightning stroke destroying the worshippers.

The immense work was preliminary to the filming of the modern story which deals with the effect of the Ten Commandments in the life of today. Among the eminent players who worked in one or other of the sequences were Theodore Roberts, Charles De Roche, Leatrice Joy, Rod La Rocque, Richard Dix, Nita Naldi, Agnes Ayres, Robert Edeson and Estelle Taylor.

LA FOLLETTE'S AIDES TO MEET

Third Party Movement Purpose of Session in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—Leaders of the progressive movement which supported the Independent Presidential candidacy of Senator Robert M. La Follette, of Wisconsin, were gathering in Washington today for the opening tomorrow of the meeting of the executive committee of the Conference for Progressive Political Action.

Under instructions from its convention last June, the committee is charged particularly with making recommendations on the establishment of a permanent new third party in the United States.

Four major things are to be considered by the committee, William M. Johnston, chairman and President of the International Association of Machinists, announced today. These are:

2—Review of the La Follette campaign.

3—Recommendations for the establishment of a third party.

4—Recommendations for participation in National and State elections.

Johnson himself expressed belief that the La Follette campaign had demonstrated not only the need of a new political alignment but that the "time now is ripe for the launching of a new party movement, a movement composed chiefly of the American workers and other progressive minded citizens of the country."

Suffered With Piles For Years

Says Hamadala Has Cured Him

3152 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y.,
August 15, 1924.

Gentlemen—I have been troubled with piles for twelve or thirteen years and although I consulted several of the best recommended physicians, and used various salves prescribed by them as remedies, I was never able to obtain relief.

Through an acquaintance I was advised to try Hamadala Pile Tablets, which I did. I took just one box. Nearly four months have elapsed since I stopped taking the tablets, and there is no sign of the piles returning. I am therefore writing this letter with the absolute belief that Hamadala Tablets have positively and permanently corrected my trouble.

Yours very truly,
JOHN A. McALLISTER.

Hamadala is an internal constitutional treatment for blind, bleeding or protruding piles. It is dispensed under refund guarantee by C. G. Anderson, J. D. Holloway and Carnahan's Drug Stores, and all good druggists. Out of town sufferers can obtain by mail. Price $1.00. The Hamadala Co., Box 445, Buffalo, N. Y.

Samuel Gompers

satisfaction that under his skillful pilotage the organization is the largest labor organization in the world, in membership and influence on the economic life of any country.

American historians will accord Samuel Gompers an important place in the history of the republic in the half century between the Civil war and the World war.

Born In London.

Gompers was born in London in 1850, the son of Dutch-Jewish parents. He left school at an early age and became a Cigarmaker's apprentice, emigrating to America early in his teens. Here in the new world he found the movement toward labor organizing just begun. He threw himself into it with all his youthful enthusiasm and native ability.

He rapidly rose to the Presidency of his local, became one of the charter members of the present American Federation of Labor and in 1882, at barely over 30, he became its president. He was re-elected annually thereafter until his death—a span of 42 years—which saw the labor movement rise and fall like the tides of the ocean. His last election took place at El Paso only a few weeks ago.

He ruled the federation with an iron hand—or did until advancing years took their toll and brought up a new crop of younger leaders who in recent years have dominated the organization. But they never stripped the "old man," as he was affectionately called, of all of his power and he continued a dominant leader until his death.

Writer And Speaker.

Gompers' battle on behalf of labor did not end with his presidency of the Federation. He was prolific as a writer and speaker and for 40 years in print and from the platform, he hammered away at his task of improving the economic and social position of men who toil with their hands

Much of Gompers' success in building up his organization was due to his canny political sense. He early determined upon a non-partisan attitude in national elections and while he, himself, was often strongly partisan, his organization seldom was. The Federation was more partisan in 1924 than ever before in its history, going over to La Follette lock, stock and barrel. This was due to a considerable extent to the younger leaders who came up from the ranks to challenge the "old man's" domination and diction.

From the time of its organization, the American Federation of Labor was almost constantly in litigation. Capital, in the 80s did not recognize labor's right to collective bargaining as it does today, nor did the courts themselves. Time and again Gompers was sentenced to jail for contempt of court, for disregard of injunctions and for other reasons, but always in the end he managed to win out.

Once Sentenced to Prison.

There reposes in the United States Supreme Court a case and appeal, wherein Gompers was sentenced to serve a year in the penitentiary for contempt of court. This arose out of the old Buck Stove and Range company fight in St. Louis nearly twenty years ago. It has never been decided.

One of the greatest blows Gompers ever sustained was in the famous McNamara case, wherein the brothers were tried and convicted of dynamiting the Los Angeles Times building. Gompers denounced their arrest as "a plot to discredit labor," and he backed their defense with American Federation of Labor funds and with every resource at his command. The confessions were a severe blow to him.

"Labor has been deceived," he said. To the day of his death he never liked to talk about the McNamara case.

Gompers was an important national figue during the World war, which he supported. When the cry came for industrial output beyond anything ever dreamed of, Gompers turned all the resources of his organization toward speeding up work in factory and shipyard. He went to Paris after the war as a member of the Wilson peace commission.

200 Attend Supper In M. E. Church and Hear Program Plans

Two hundred persons attended a "get-to-gether" meeting and supper in the First Methodist Episcopal church last evening. The supper was served by the ladies of the church.

Dr. Frank G. Fowler, pastor, outlined the program for the next three months, in keeping with the recommendations of Bishop Henderson, of the Cincinnati area. This program will be culminated with an evangelistic campaign during the early spring. All church day activities hereafter will be centered on Wednesday which will be known as Church Day.

A double male quartet, led by Prof H. F. Laughlin, rendered several numbers, with Mrs. T. C. Flick as accompanist.

Dr. H. S. Powell, district superintendent of Steubenville, discussed "Methodism's Crown." He emphasized the need of evangelism.

Beginning with January, congregational dinners will be held at the church every Wednesday evening.

Georgia Downard was given a damage verdict for $550 and costs against the city of East Liverpool by the jury in Judge Carl H. Smith's court at Lisbon, yesterday in the case in which she had demanded $20,000 to compensate her for personal injuries.

On New Year's day, last, as the plaintiff was walking along West Eighth street, she alleged she stepped into a broken place in the street, and falling, wrenched and dislocated her ankle so that she is premanently injured. She said on the witness stand that broken places in the paving, dangerous to pedestrians, had been left without either lights or barriers as warnings.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—While many of the most active stocks sold at lower prices in the first hour today, selling pressure was not renewed at the rate which prevailed yesterday and simultaneous rallies in all of the major divisions of the market showed that there had been no large accumulation of overnight selling orders.

Railroad stocks gave a good account of themselves in this period, with Chesapeake & Ohio and Baltimore & Ohio leading a moderate rally. Heavy buying of Chesapeake & Ohio, at the highest prices of the year is based on reports that the minority stockholders will force a better representation for this road in the proposed Nickle Plate amalgamation. Higher dividends are rumored for Baltimore & Ohio, Atchison and a number of other roads, whose stocks were in demand today.

The copper stocks showed a disposition to recover from the slump which was caused by Wednesday's heavy selling. Utah securities, up two points to a new high at 40½, was a leader in this movement, with Kennecot and Anaconda making fractional improvement. Cerro de Pasco was active at slightly higher prices, while Chile copper declined.

American Water Works at 28, up three points; Bosch Magneto at 34 and International Combustion Engineering were the most pominent of the specialty stocks. Mercantile company shares, though losing ground in the first hour, made a good recovery later in the session.

DE MILLE CONQUERS STUPENDOUS TASKS IN 'TEN COMMANDMENTS' FILM

To put on the screen the grandiose early events of Bible history would seem a task beyond human power did not one have the record of what was done in California recently and will be presented to Ceramic theatre audiences in "The Ten Commandments" beginning Thursday evening and twice daily, Friday and Saturday, is what Cecil De Mille essayed:—

The Exodus of Israel from Egypt the land of bondage. The parting of the Red Sea. The destruction of Pharoah's chariots when the waters closed. The giving of the Commandments from Mount Sinai. The bacchanalian worship of the Golden Calf by the erring people. Heaven's terrible vengeance on the three thousand idolators.

First he built an Egyptian city in the deserts of central California, then the Court of Pharaoh where Moses announced the Ten Plagues and won his plea; "Let my people go!" Twenty-five hundred actors took part in these scenes, including two hundred and fifty Yemenite Jews from Palestine.

The passage of the Red Sea and the confounding of Pharaoh were accomplished by a cunning mingling of Nature and Art, the scenes being taken at Balboa Beach. Nearer Hollywood the graving by Moses of the Twin Tablets from the Divine letters in the sky was superably achieved. Finally in a great canyon the Golden Calf idolatory was staged, with Moses descending from the Mount and a cyclonic windstorm and lightning stroke destroying the worshippers.

The immense work was preliminary to the filming of the modern story which deals with the effect of the Ten Commandments in the life of today. Among the eminent players who worked in one or other of the sequences were Theodore Roberts, Charles De Roche, Leatrice Joy, Rod La Rocque, Richard Dix, Nita Naldi, Agnes Ayres, Robert Edeson and Estelle Taylor.

LA FOLLETTE'S AIDES TO MEET

Third Party Movement Purpose of Session in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—Leaders of the progressive movement which supported the Independent Presidential candidacy of Senator Robert M. La Follette, of Wisconsin, were gathering in Washington today for the opening tomorrow of the meeting of the executive committee of the Conference for Progressive Political Action.

Under instructions from its convention last June, the committee is charged particularly with making recommendations on the establishment of a permanent new third party in the United States.

Four major things are to be considered by the committee, William M. Johnston, chairman and President of the International Association of Machinists, announced today. These are:

2—Review of the La Follette campaign.

3—Recommendations for the establishment of a third party.

4—Recommendations for participation in National and State elections.

Johnson himself expressed belief that the La Follette campaign had demonstrated not only the need of a new political alignment but that the "time now is ripe for the launching of a new party movement, a movement composed chiefly of the American workers and other progressive minded citizens of the country."

The Salvation Army today resumed its appeal for their Christmas dinner and winter relief fund.

Kettles are being maintained in four downtown locations, to remain there, Sunday excepted, until Christmas. Additional collectors will be sent to East End and Wellsville on the Saturday preceding Christmas, Adjutant John G Dean said.

A committee of workers, who are canvassing pottery workers, reported subscriptions totalling $161.40 during the first three days of their campaign. This, together with the money collected in the kettles Saturday, brings the contributions up to $243.19. Salvation Army workers seek $3,000 to finance their relief activities.

Letters have been sent out to business men and manufacturers of the district, asking for contributions. Returns through the mails are expected to start coming in by the latter part of the week.

Suffered With Piles For Years

Says Hamadala Has Cured Him

3152 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y.,
August 15, 1924.

Gentlemen—I have been troubled with piles for twelve or thirteen years and although I consulted several of the best recommended physicians, and used various salves prescribed by them as remedies, I was never able to obtain relief.

Through an acquaintance I was advised to try Hamadala Pile Tablets, which I did. I took just one box. Nearly four months have elapsed since I stopped taking the tablets, and there is no sign of the piles returning. I am therefore writing this letter with the absolute belief that Hamadala Tablets have positively and permanently corrected my trouble.

Yours very truly,
JOHN A. McALLISTER.

Samuel Gompers

satisfaction that under his skillful pilotage the organization is the largest labor organization in the world, in membership and influence on the economic life of any country.

American historians will accord Samuel Gompers an important place in the history of the republic in the half century between the Civil war and the World war.

Born In London.

Gompers was born in London in 1850, the son of Dutch-Jewish parents. He left school at an early age and became a Cigarmaker's apprentice, emigrating to America early in his teens. Here in the new world he found the movement toward labor organizing just begun. He threw himself into it with all his youthful enthusiasm and native ability.

He rapidly rose to the Presidency of his local, became one of the charter members of the present American Federation of Labor and in 1882, at barely over 30, he became its president. He was re-elected annually thereafter until his death—a span of 42 years—which saw the labor movement rise and fall like the tides of the ocean. His last election took place at El Paso only a few weeks ago.

He ruled the federation with an iron hand—or did until advancing years took their toll and brought up a new crop of younger leaders who in recent years have dominated the organization. But they never stripped the "old man," as he was affectionately called, of all of his power and he continued a dominant leader until his death.

Writer And Speaker.

Gompers' battle on behalf of labor did not end with his presidency of the Federation. He was prolific as a writer and speaker and for 40 years in print and from the platform, he hammered away at his task of improving the economic and social position of men who toil with their hands

Much of Gompers' success in building up his organization was due to his canny political sense. He early determined upon a non-partisan attitude in national elections and while he, himself, was often strongly partisan, his organization seldom was. The Federation was more partisan in 1924 than ever before in its history, going over to La Follette lock, stock and barrel. This was due to a considerable extent to the younger leaders who came up from the ranks to challenge the "old man's" domination and diction.

From the time of its organization, the American Federation of Labor was almost constantly in litigation. Capital, in the 80s did not recognize labor's right to collective bargaining as it does today, nor did the courts themselves. Time and again Gompers was sentenced to jail for contempt of court, for disregard of injunctions and for other reasons, but always in the end he managed to win out.

Once Sentenced to Prison.

There reposes in the United States Supreme Court a case and appeal, wherein Gompers was sentenced to serve a year in the penitentiary for contempt of court. This arose out of the old Buck Stove and Range company fight in St. Louis nearly twenty years ago. It has never been decided.

One of the greatest blows Gompers ever sustained was in the famous McNamara case, wherein the brothers were tried and convicted of dynamiting the Los Angeles Times building. Gompers denounced their arrest as "a plot to discredit labor," and he backed their defense with American Federation of Labor funds and with every resource at his command. The confessions were a severe blow to him.

"Labor has been deceived," he said. To the day of his death he never liked to talk about the McNamara case.

Gompers was an important national figue during the World war, which he supported. When the cry came for industrial output beyond anything ever dreamed of, Gompers turned all the resources of his organization toward speeding up work in factory and shipyard. He went to Paris after the war as a member of the Wilson peace commission.

200 Attend Supper In M. E. Church and Hear Program Plans

Two hundred persons attended a "get-to-gether" meeting and supper in the First Methodist Episcopal church last evening. The supper was served by the ladies of the church.

Dr. Frank G. Fowler, pastor, outlined the program for the next three months, in keeping with the recommendations of Bishop Henderson, of the Cincinnati area. This program will be culminated with an evangelistic campaign during the early spring. All church day activities hereafter will be centered on Wednesday which will be known as Church Day.

A double male quartet, led by Prof H. F. Laughlin, rendered several numbers, with Mrs. T. C. Flick as accompanist.

Dr. H. S. Powell, district superintendent of Steubenville, discussed "Methodism's Crown." He emphasized the need of evangelism.

Beginning with January, congregational dinners will be held at the church every Wednesday evening.

Georgia Downard was given a damage verdict for $550 and costs against the city of East Liverpool by the jury in Judge Carl H. Smith's court at Lisbon, yesterday in the case in which she had demanded $20,000 to compensate her for personal injuries.

On New Year's day, last, as the plaintiff was walking along West Eighth street, she alleged she stepped into a broken place in the street, and falling, wrenched and dislocated her ankle so that she is premanently injured. She said on the witness stand that broken places in the paving, dangerous to pedestrians, had been left without either lights or barriers as warnings.

LA FOLLETTE'S AIDES TO MEET

Third Party Movement Purpose of Session in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—Leaders of the progressive movement which supported the Independent Presidential candidacy of Senator Robert M. La Follette, of Wisconsin, were gathering in Washington today for the opening tomorrow of the meeting of the executive committee of the Conference for Progressive Political Action.

Under instructions from its convention last June, the committee is charged particularly with making recommendations on the establishment of a permanent new third party in the United States.

Four major things are to be considered by the committee, William M. Johnston, chairman and President of the International Association of Machinists, announced today. These are:

2—Review of the La Follette campaign.

3—Recommendations for the establishment of a third party.

4—Recommendations for participation in National and State elections.

Johnson himself expressed belief that the La Follette campaign had demonstrated not only the need of a new political alignment but that the "time now is ripe for the launching of a new party movement, a movement composed chiefly of the American workers and other progressive minded citizens of the country."

YULE DINNER FUND HITS $243

The Salvation Army today resumed its appeal for their Christmas dinner and winter relief fund.

Kettles are being maintained in four downtown locations, to remain there, Sunday excepted, until Christmas. Additional collectors will be sent to East End and Wellsville on the Saturday preceding Christmas, Adjutant John G Dean said.

A committee of workers, who are canvassing pottery workers, reported subscriptions totalling $161.40 during the first three days of their campaign. This, together with the money collected in the kettles Saturday, brings the contributions up to $243.19. Salvation Army workers seek $3,000 to finance their relief activities.

Letters have been sent out to business men and manufacturers of the district, asking for contributions. Returns through the mails are expected to start coming in by the latter part of the week.

Suffered With Piles For Years

Says Hamadala Has Cured Him

3152 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y.,
August 15, 1924.

Gentlemen—I have been troubled with piles for twelve or thirteen years and although I consulted several of the best recommended physicians, and used various salves prescribed by them as remedies, I was never able to obtain relief.

Through an acquaintance I was advised to try Hamadala Pile Tablets, which I did. I took just one box. Nearly four months have elapsed since I stopped taking the tablets, and there is no sign of the piles returning. I am therefore writing this letter with the absolute belief that Hamadala Tablets have positively and permanently corrected my trouble.

Yours very truly,
JOHN A. McALLISTER.

Hamadala is an internal constitutional treatment for blind, bleeding or protruding piles. It is dispensed under refund guarantee by C. G. Anderson, J. D. Holloway and Carnahan's Drug Stores, and all good druggists. Out of town sufferers can obtain by mail. Price $1.00. The Hamadala Co., Box 445, Buffalo, N. Y.

Samuel Gompers

satisfaction that under his skillful pilotage the organization is the largest labor organization in the world, in membership and influence on the economic life of any country.

American historians will accord Samuel Gompers an important place in the history of the republic in the half century between the Civil war and the World war.

Born In London.

Gompers was born in London in 1850, the son of Dutch-Jewish parents. He left school at an early age and became a Cigarmaker's apprentice, emigrating to America early in his teens. Here in the new world he found the movement toward labor organizing just begun. He threw himself into it with all his youthful enthusiasm and native ability.

He rapidly rose to the Presidency of his local, became one of the charter members of the present American Federation of Labor and in 1882, at barely over 30, he became its president. He was re-elected annually thereafter until his death—a span of 42 years—which saw the labor movement rise and fall like the tides of the ocean. His last election took place at El Paso only a few weeks ago.

He ruled the federation with an iron hand—or did until advancing years took their toll and brought up a new crop of younger leaders who in recent years have dominated the organization. But they never stripped the "old man," as he was affectionately called, of all of his power and he continued a dominant leader until his death.

Writer And Speaker.

Gompers' battle on behalf of labor did not end with his presidency of the Federation. He was prolific as a writer and speaker and for 40 years in print and from the platform, he hammered away at his task of improving the economic and social position of men who toil with their hands.

Much of Gompers' success in building up his organization was due to his canny political sense. He early determined upon a non-partisan attitude in national elections and while he, himself, was often strongly partisan, his organization seldom was. The Federation was more partisan in 1924 than ever before in its history, going over to La Follette lock, stock and barrel. This was due to a considerable extent to the younger leaders who came up from the ranks to challenge the "old man's" domination and diction.

From the time of its organization, the American Federation of Labor was almost constantly in litigation. Capital, in the 80s did not recognize labor's right to collective bargaining as it does today, nor did the courts themselves. Time and again Gompers was sentenced to jail for contempt of court, for disregard of injunctions and for other reasons, but always in the end he managed to win out.

Once Sentenced to Prison.

There reposes in the United States Supreme Court a case and appeal, wherein Gompers was sentenced to serve a year in the penitentiary for contempt of court. This arose out of the old Buck Stove and Range company fight in St. Louis nearly twenty years ago. It has never been decided.

One of the greatest blows Gompers ever sustained was in the famous McNamara case, wherein the brothers were tried and convicted of dynamiting the Los Angeles Times building. Gompers denounced their arrest as "a plot to discredit labor," and he backed their defense with American Federation of Labor funds and with every resource at his command. The confessions were a severe blow to him.

"Labor has been deceived," he said. To the day of his death he never liked to talk about the McNamara case.

Gompers was an important national figue during the World war, which he supported. When the cry came for industrial output beyond anything ever dreamed of, Gompers turned all the resources of his organization toward speeding up work in factory and shipyard. He went to Paris after the war as a member of the Wilson peace commission.

200 Attend Supper In M. E. Church and Hear Program Plans

Two hundred persons attended a "get-to-gether" meeting and supper in the First Methodist Episcopal church last evening. The supper was served by the ladies of the church.

Dr. Frank G. Fowler, pastor, outlined the program for the next three months, in keeping with the recommendations of Bishop Henderson, of the Cincinnati area. This program will be culminated with an evangelistic campaign during the early spring. All church day activities hereafter will be centered on Wednesday which will be known as Church Day.

A double male quartet, led by Prof H. F. Laughlin, rendered several numbers, with Mrs. T. C. Flick as accompanist.

Dr. H. S. Powell, district superintendent of Steubenville, discussed "Methodism's Crown." He emphasized the need of evangelism.

Beginning with January, congregational dinners will be held at the church every Wednesday evening.

Georgia Downard was given a damage verdict for $550 and costs against the city of East Liverpool by the jury in Judge Carl H. Smith's court at Lisbon, yesterday in the case in which she had demanded $20,000 to compensate her for personal injuries.

On New Year's day, last, as the plaintiff was walking along West Eighth street, she alleged she stepped into a broken place in the street, and falling, wrenched and dislocated her ankle so that she is premanently injured. She said on the witness stand that broken places in the paving, dangerous to pedestrians, had been left without either lights or barriers as warnings.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—While many of the most active stocks sold at lower prices in the first hour today, selling pressure was not renewed at the rate which prevailed yesterday and simultaneous rallies in all of the major divisions of the market showed that there had been no large accumulation of overnight selling orders.

Railroad stocks gave a good account of themselves in this period, with Chesapeake & Ohio and Baltimore & Ohio leading a moderate rally. Heavy buying of Chesapeake & Ohio, at the highest prices of the year is based on reports that the minority stockholders will force a better representation for this road in the proposed Nickle Plate amalgamation. Higher dividends are rumored for Baltimore & Ohio, Atchison and a number of other roads, whose stocks were in demand today.

The copper stocks showed a disposition to recover from the slump which was caused by Wednesday's heavy selling. Utah securities, up two points to a new high at 40½, was a leader in this movement, with Kennecot and Anaconda making fractional improvement. Cerro de Pasco was active at slightly higher prices, while Chile copper declined.

American Water Works at 28, up three points; Bosch Magneto at 34 and International Combustion Engineering were the most pominent of the specialty stocks. Mercantile company shares, though losing ground in the first hour, made a good recovery later in the session.

EMMONS CALLS CONSTITUENTS

Representative-elect Arranges Conferences for Saturday.

State Representative-elect Ralph W. Emmons of East Rochester, will visit here Saturday afternoon to confer with his constituents regarding legislative matters. He will be at the Travelers Hotel between 12 and 3 p. m. and any person wishing to meet him regarding proposals to be considered at the coming session of the Ohio assembly, is invited to call.

Emmons' election means that for the first time in the history of the state two brothers will sit together in the state house at Columbus early in January.

The Columbiana county man is a brother of V. D. Emmons of Akron, who has been returned to the state house of representatives for a third term. The East Rochester man carried the county over his Democratic opponent, C. E. Oliver, by a majority of 8,000 at the November election, while his brother was given a majority of 19,000 over his opponent by Summit county electors.

The younger Emmons has been connected with the Pennsylvania Railroad company, at East Rochester, for 20 years, serving as ticket agent. He has been clerk of the West Township board of trustees for 12 years and for 13 years has been clerk of the township board of education. He is a registered law student and a writer on taxation and agricultural subjects.

In the term just ended, the elder brother served on the state finance, soldiers' and sailors' orphans' home and city and village committees.

A year ago, on the same date, a City Ice and Products Co. milk wagon, driven by Ensinger, upset on Pennsylvania avenue, but he escaped injury.

DE MILLE CONQUERS STUPENDOUS TASKS IN 'TEN COMMANDMENTS' FILM

To put on the screen the grandiose early events of Bible history would seem a task beyond human power did not one have the record of what was done in California recently and will be presented to Ceramic theatre audiences in "The Ten Commandments" beginning Thursday evening and twice daily, Friday and Saturday, is what Cecil De Mille essayed:—

The Exodus of Israel from Egypt the land of bondage. The parting of the Red Sea. The destruction of Pharoah's chariots when the waters closed. The giving of the Commandments from Mount Sinai. The bacchanalian worship of the Golden Calf by the erring people. Heaven's terrible vengeance on the three thousand idolators.

First he built an Egyptian city in the deserts of central California, then the Court of Pharaoh where Moses announced the Ten Plagues and won his plea; "Let my people go!" Twenty-five hundred actors took part in these scenes, including two hundred and fifty Yemenite Jews from Palestine.

The passage of the Red Sea and the confounding of Pharaoh were accomplished by a cunning mingling of Nature and Art, the scenes being taken at Balboa Beach. Nearer Hollywood the graving by Moses of the Twin Tablets from the Divine letters in the sky was superably achieved. Finally in a great canyon the Golden Calf Idolatry was staged, with Moses descending from the Mount and a cyclonic windstorm and lightning stroke destroying the worshippers.

The immense work was preliminary to the filming of the modern story which deals with the effect of the Ten Commandments in the life of today. Among the eminent players who worked in one or other of the sequences were Theodore Roberts, Charles De Roche, Leatrice Joy, Rod La Rocque, Richard Dix, Nita Naldi, Agnes Ayres, Robert Edeson and Estelle Taylor.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1924.

Help The Needy

Two weeks from today is Christmas.

Boys and girls who still have faith in Santa Claus know that, and they are daily reminding their parents and elder brothers and sisters of the fact, so they will not be overlook when plans are made for the distribution of presents. Surprises for your family and friends, of course, will be provided, but have you thought of doing something else?

In East Liverpool as well as scores of other communities, there are many needy families who will be forgotten by Santa Claus unless some benevolent person assumes the role. The Review-Tribune cited one case yesterday—a family of six—a widowed grandmother and mother and four fatherless children who are making a brave fight for a living. Their Christmas will be sad unless their worthiness appeals to people who believe it is better to give than to receive.

And there are other families where the mother or father has been called away. Many of these will be recipients of gfts in the form of toys, candy and clothing and Christmas dinners from Elks and other lodges and the Salvation Army. Some of them, because they are concealing their need, will be forgotten.

There are many opportunities here to pick out a needy family. If you are interested, communicate with the township trustees, Salvation Army or charitable organizations of churches. Members of these units know most of those in want. Pick out a needy family and make the members of it happy on Christmas.

The Admired Horse

Although the horse is supposed to be out of date and to have no place in daily life, particularly in cities, the horse show continues to be a popular affair. The shows held in Kansas City, Mo., recently as part of the American Royal Livestock show were largely attended by enthusiastic crowds. There were cowboy stunts, special cavalry drills and other features. In addition, there was a fine display of harness horses, three and five-gaited saddle horses, hunters and jumpers, Shetland and Welsh ponies, Hackney horses and other samples of "the cream of horseflesh." There were special $1,000 and $3,000 stake events.

Diplomas by Radio

A Berlin radio station is broadcasting a university course of study, and greatly pluming itself thereupon. It does show progress for the Old World, where radio development has lagged. Several of our own universities have been doing the same thing for some time.

There is sure to be a big field for such activity from now on. Radio is particularly adapted to night school activities, at least such kinds of study as do not require the assembling of students for personal work under their instructor. Anything that can be conveyed in the form of a lecture—that is to say, a one-way lesson—can be taught by radio. And most teaching is lecturing. The student simply has to use a little more effort in applying his attention, because he lacks the stimulus of the teacher's personal presence and the opportunity to interrupt with questions.

Correspondence schools may be largely radio schools in the future. The country may be turned into one great night school, if time after dark can be spared from jazz music.

Theater men are complaining that the crossword puzzle craze keeps people at home. That's reprehensible, but it may result in better plays.

THE GREAT PACIFIC COAST

This is Los Angeles, looking out from a window of the Ambassador hotel, upon city of which the beauty and growth multiply ten fold and the wonders told of Aladdin's lamp.

Before you leave the railroad station Los Angeles facts are poured into you.

The most important seaport in the United States, next to the port of New York. That's also Los Angeles.

Have you any manufacturing industries of importance in Los Angeles?

Have we any manufactures? This is the sixth city in the United States in manufactures and we've only started.

Stretched across the side of a small mountain outside the city you see at night an electric sign, "Hollywoodland." They offer Los Angeles bargains there. You might perhaps get an acre for $30,000.

When men living here were boys you could have bought that big hill and all the hills and mountains in sight for half of $30,000. And if you had offered such a sum the owners would have insured your life, lest you should die before completing the deal.

Is there a lull in the Los Angeles boom? Yes, a lull like that of a man catching his breath after a marathon race.

With the beginning of the year the rush to buy will start again.

The so-called "lull" is confined to sub-divisions that are being laid out as part of the general plan for a city of 6,000,000.

Don't laugh at the six million proposition. This town will have a population of six millions, of ten millions and more. It is utterly impossible to exaggerate the future of California, or Florida, for they will draw, as a magnet draws a tack, those that have money enough to live where they please, and here, as in Florida, the cost of living is remarkably low, less than half the cost of decent comfort in New York state, for instance.

WHERE THE DESERT REJOICES

The "desert shall rejoice," said old Isaiah.

He should have seen these "desert" plains and valleys, when water is brought to them.

You come west through so-called desert land, mountains on either side, in the distance, yellow sandy looking soil stretching away to the mountains, a few cactus and other plants that live without water, nothing else.

Suddenly on both sides of the track appear magnificently beautiful orange groves and vineyards, mile after mile, the trees laden with fruit, the grape vines cut close to the ground to grow next year's fruit bearing vines.

Between the rows of trees you see shallow ditches, a few inches deep. They mean irrigation.

The only difference between those groves and vineyards and the so-called "desert" just beyond is the difference of water and no water.

WATER LIKE KNOWLEDGE

Water does for the land what knowledge does for the human mind. "Give light (knowledge) and the people will find their own way," said Dante.

Give water to these "desert lands," add to the water a few thousand of Dante's fellow countrymen from Italy, or other good workers, and these lands will produce anything you want.

When the flying machine comes, as it will, in a few years, and people from the east fly to California as easily and quickly as they go now from New York to Washington or Newport, this country will be known to all. Meanwhile, fortunate the man that gets in ahead of the others, anywhere from San Diego on the south to Seattle on the north.

Here you cannot go wrong, whether you select the warmth of San Diego, the mild winter climate of Los Angeles, the bracing air, intense business energy, beautiful mountains covered with live oaks of the San Francisco region, or the endless possibilities of the Seattle region, destined in this writer's judgment to have the greatest port on this continent. That will come when the Pacific eclipses the Atlantic, as the Atlantic eclipsed the Mediterranean after 1492.

IT'S A GREAT COUNTRY

This land on the Pacific and the land back of it, is an empire preserved for a future population of hundreds of millions, and no imagination can even dimly foresee what it will be.

The only small cloud on the horizon, a very small one, is the rivalry between different parts of this magnificent national domain.

Every citizen of the United States should rejoice in the constantly growing prosperity of every section in the nation. All growth means increased value and the future of the entire nation.

However, rivalry means harder work, greater civic enthusiasm. So it is probably just as well to have the northern California referring to the south as collection of people from "central Iowa," and the south boasting of passing competitors in the north.

NEWSY GOSSIP OF BIG CITIES

By S. J. K. HUGHES.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Dec. 11.—Science scored again when the city of Houston, threatened with the hideous yellow fever plague, the disease that created great havoc with the second expedition of Columbus, in San Domingo, in the year 1495, quickly subdued without panic and with the loss of but one life, the once terrifying malady.

Eighty-seven residents of a Houston hotel, where the first yellow fever outbreaks in years was discovered, have just been released from quarantine, after state health officers had battled the plague to rapid defeat.

The lone victim was an Italian from New Orleans, who was sick on his arrival in Texas.

Whether the disease was imported into this country through the ill-fated Columbus party, or was spawned with the delivery of slaves from the African coast, has long been a matter of conjecture in medical quarters; but its treatment, prevention and extinction have remained apace with the mighty strides of science.

Yellow fever, quick in its death-dealing and contagious qualities, once alarming to the physicians of the world, is transmitted only through the bite of a certain species of house mosquito (aedes canopus), commonly found to exist in small collections of stagnant water in such apparently harmless sources as broken bottles, roof-gutters and cisterns.

The species is a poor traveler, breeding, living and dying in a small radius, rarely traveling 75 yards from its breeding place. It seldom feeds before late afternoon, or nightfall, and is rarely found in an altitude of 3,000 feet or more.

Foresight, through drastic "anti-mosquito campaigns," had undoubtedly saved Houston and the surrounding country from the "flying death," an expression of the peon of Mexico, where the disease is ever epidemic and always a potential danger to Texas and the nation.

After the notable outbreak, in Philadelphia, of 1793, great loss of life followed in the wake of the ugly disease, although prior to that time epidemics had raged in Boston in the years 1691, 1693 and 1695. Other cities to feel is deadly fangs included New York in 1702, 1743, 1748, 1762; Philadelphia 1699, 1732, 1741, 1743, 1747 and 1762; Norfolk, Va., 1747.

The first appearance of the malady in Texas, so far as has been recorded, was in 1933 at Columbia, on the Brazos, then one of the principal ports for introducing goods into the country. Galveston and Houston were stricken in 1839, 1844 and 1949, the fever again breaking out in Galveston during 1853, 1854 and 1858; at Matagorda in 1862, and in 1863 at Sabine, Houston, Brownsville and Corpus Christi.

The sweeping epidemic of 1867 in Texas claimed more than 3,000 lives, 1,150 of these in Galveston.

Medical science first began its offensive campaign against the fever in the early 80's, followed by the exhaustive research tests of army surgeons, in the tropics and Central America, who emerged triumphant at the cost of many martyred lives.

For the more civilized areas the disease has lost much of its terror, Texas alone spending $350,000 annually to maintain a permanent corps of highly trained experts in mosquito eradication.

Perhaps the most accommodating city commission in the country functions at Plainview, Texas. If you are inclined to doubt it, question any of the more permanent residents of the Plainview jail. When the jail boarders notified the commission that they must either have a better jail or "walk out," the commission, after a hurried survey, agreed the execution of the threat would require no undue exertion and constructed a new bastile, "thoroughly modern."

Search for loving friends and relatives of Green Williams, negro, of Cuero, Texas, has practically been abandoned.

They disappeared in a southwardly direction, in a cloud of dust, early one afternoon from Williams' premature funeral. Green had died sufficiently to satisfy relatives that a funeral was necessary; but in the heat of the services, Green reared up in his casket and emitted an extremely appropriate howl of indignation. The only mourners left, in a period of less than a split second, so testify the survivors, were the old men and those who went down in the rush.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—The so-called "Long Island set" is giving Hollywood a run for high life and scandal. It has blazed into first pages with a half dozen or more salacious stories during the past summer.

It is the haven for the high-flying rich who begin the day with 4 o'clock cocktails and end it with plunges into private pools at dawn. It is the fashion for waiters in bathing suits to serve champagne in the pool.

And this resulted in one young girl swooning in deep waters and after she was rescued it was necessary to use the pulmotor to resuscitate her. A lot of the staid old Long Islanders are suggesting a Will Hays to clean up the colony.

The picadillos reached their peak when the Prince of Wales was there last summer. And while the prince is said to have conducted himself with fitting decorum it gave a lot of the high steppers a chance to step.

There was one house party that lasted for three weeks and a corps of masseurs and barbers with hot towels were on hand to bring the male guests around to consciousness each morning. The aftermath of this party was three divorce suits.

There are scores of fine homes on Long Island that are equipped with a complete bar—like those of the old days with everything in the way of liquor on hand and a fleet of day and night bartenders to attend to thirsts.

The chorus girls who used to leave the theater for the midnight clubs now find cars awaiting them to carry them off to "parties" far beyond the common rut of hospitality. Long Island homes are remaining open this fall. And this is draining high life out of New York.

He is one of those imposing figures one instinctively calls Colonel. He suggests travel and being at home in his London or New York club. He has shaggy white eyebrows and a clipped and military grizzle of a short mustache. He has four sons, all bachelors, to whom he is devoted, and when he is in New York you see them dining together, smoking long black cigars and telling stories. Not so long ago his sons announced they were going to marry. "If you feel that way I think I'll find a wife, too"—and he did. He married the telephone operator at his club, 26 years his junior.

The new term for tight-wad along Broadway is a B. B. They are the boys below the scale of the Heavy Sugar Papas and Butter and Egg Men and are designated as Bracelet Buyers. Bracelets in batches are being worn by the fair sex and the B. B. merely adds one to the collection.

Romantic New York with its tangled network of streets, some furtive and some flaunting, hides thousands of secrets of the human heart. Of all the figures moving across this panorama there are none more interesting than the subway track-walkers. Here are men whose lives are dungeoned near the first layer of a bustling city's heart but who live in lonesome darkness. It is their job to walk along and gather scraps of paper, boxes and other debris from the tracks. The only relief from the monotony is to step aside and see a train flash by. Most of them are old men and when they come out of the subway must wear dark glasses because light is painful to unaccustomed eyes.

DINNER STORIES

The flivver, containing the guide driver and a tourist, was bumping over a steep pass in the Rockies when a knocking sound became manifest. The chauffeur clambered down and made an inspection.

"Are you insured?" he asked the nervous traveler.

"Well, that's all right then," was the cheerful reply. "So's the car."

Two men, evidently business partners, took their places in the line that was wending its way toward the ticket window for the evening performance. Suddenly one of the men seemed to remember something. He clapped one hand to his forehead, gasped and in consternation said to his partner:

"Abe, I forgot to lock the safe!'

"Huh," said the other.

"Why worry about the safe ain't locked? We're both here, ain't we?"

Cards have been received here announcing the marriage of Miss Leynora Hill, of Wellsville, to Frank Folsome Smith, of Youngstown.

Haskin Letter

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

THE COMMON COLD

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The United States is now producing—among other things—more than 200,000,000 colds a year. This is only a rough estimate. It is a rather conservative one. The public health service is making the first nation-wide study of colds, and it has already announced that among fairly representative groups of persons only 10 per cent had no colds and the other 90 per cent had an average of almost two colds during a five-and-one-half month period.

Here, then, is a matter of interest and importance to almost the entire population of the United States. And yet doctors have not paid much attention to it, even though they realize that the common cold often leads to serious maladies. Knowledge of a subject of this sort comes only by research and study. Consequently, while the medical profession has been probing the mysteries of dreaded contagious diseases, the common cold has been treated casually, and has become commoner every year. Even now, doctors do not agree as to the causes of a cold, nor as to exactly what takes place in the body of a person who catches one.

For some reason, however, the head cold has at last gained the attention of science. The public health service is making some studies of causes and treatment in its national survey. The chemical warfare service is still experimenting with chloride gas treatment. Individual physicians are also contributing the ideas and experiences. At a convention of medical men in New Orleans a few weeks ago, a symposium on colds was a feature of the program. In Washington an interesting paper was recently read before a medical society by a physician who has been devoting a good deal of attention to the neglected subject of colds.

This physician, who is Dr. Walter A. Wells, a specialist in the diseases of the nose and throat, presented some practical views. He is of the opinion that micro-organisms have been given too much prominence as the cause of colds. Emphasis has been laid on the fact that colds are infectious, and many an individual believes that he is safe so long as he avoids being kissed by a person with a cold, and so long as he is careful in other ways not to get a knock-out dose of germs. The specialist says that this belief has led to an over-dependence upon the use of vaccine and local antiseptics in treating colds. These remedies attack the germs, but they cannot render any one invulnerable.

CHLORINE GAS TREATMENT

Chlorine gas, for instance, is being used by the war department and some doctors as a treatment for colds. About three doses are necessary to vanquish germs, and the sufferer, as a rule, is left more or less free from cold germs, for the time being. This gives his nose and throat a chance to get a fresh start, or a fresh cold, according to whether he is careful or careless in his habits.

Chlorine gas could be used in a limited way to prevent people from catching cold. It has been suggested that a very weak concentration of the gas would purify the air of theaters, churches and other crowded halls, just as a chlorine solution is used to purify water. This would tend to safeguard the persons in an audience against the colds owned by their neighbors, but it would have no permanent magic effect. Waging warfare on the bacteria is important, but the point is that the germs do not work alone.

Dr. Wells says: "Colds are directly superinduced by the joint action of micro-organisms and certain unfavorable atmospheric factors and one is as necessary as the other."

That is, the person who would avoid a cold must not only keep away from obvious sources of the micro-organisms, but he must also guard against giving the cold germs that are lurking in his own head a chance to multiply and become active. Explorers find that in the Arctic regions cold germs and colds are unknown. In our climate, however, the organisms thrive, and every one breathes them. These organisms are so small that a million of them could repose on the head of a pin without being crowded, so the human nose and throat offer ample accommodation for unlimited numbers of them.

The fact that a small army of the germs holds camp in the average nose and throat does not necessarily, at any rate, not at once. Here is where the other factor, atmosphere, comes in, for tiny organisms thrive sarily mean that the invaders will start trouble, or languish according to their surroundings, as human beings do. The specialist points out that just as the eye is affected by poor light, the ear by excessively loud sound, or the stomach by bad food, so the respiratory tract is influenced by abnormal conditions in the atmosphere.

CAUSES OF COLDS

One reason why colds are so much more frequent in winter than in summer is that in winter we are constantly experiencing a striking variety of temperatures. The changes in themselves may not be dangerous, but the conditions which accompany them frequently are. Rooms that are overheated rarely have any fresh air circulating in them. The hot, still atmosphere of such a room is over-dry. With the rising temperature, the air has an increasing affinity for water vapor, and it abstracts what moisture it can from the air passages of the human beings in the room. This places a strain upon the nose and throat passages. In addition, poisons from exhalation and fuel and possibly from gas jets are being breathed. The remedy is to admit fresher, cooler air, and it is preferable to open windows and doors wide for a few minutes rather than to keep a window partly open.

This is only one of the atmospheric conditions which encourage cold germs to do their work. Dust raised by automobiles on a road on windy day is an irritating factor. Drafts are another.

A number of other causes of colds are more or less directly connected with the air and with external conditions. Clothing is often responsible for colds. Too heavy clothing, especially when worn indoors, interferes with the body's own method of regulating its heat. Eating too much rich food and too little of the fruits and vegetables upsets the digestive organs. When this happens "the by-products of disordered metabolism circulating in the blood give rise to constant irritation in the mucous membranes, thus leading to congestion and preparing the way for infection," says Dr. Wells.

Apparently every time a rule of hygienic living is broken it starts off a "house that Jack built" series of processes which logically ends in the all too much cold. The person who would render himself sturdily resistant to atmospheric forces plus germs should take exercise, get enough sleep, bathe frequently, wear sensible clothing, eat sensible food, and avoid badly ventilated rooms. And if after all this he does fall a victim to an attack of the germ forces, he should avoid close contact with other people so that he will not collect more germs and so that he will not scatter his own by his sneezing and coughing.

It hardly needs to be said that any one who has adenoids, enlarged tonsils, catarrh, sinus trouble, or bad teeth has a weak spot in which cold germs can readily flourish. In almost every person colds can be traced to a different combination of predisposing causes. There is sound common sense in the doctor's advice that a patient should begin to treat a cold ten years before he gets it.

Help The Needy

Two weeks from today is Christmas.

Boys and girls who still have faith in Santa Claus know that, and they are daily reminding their parents and elder brothers and sisters of the fact, so they will not be overlook when plans are made for the distribution of presents. Surprises for your family and friends, of course, will be provided, but have you thought of doing something else?

In East Liverpool as well as scores of other communities, there are many needy families who will be forgotten by Santa Claus unless some benevolent person assumes the role. The Review-Tribune cited one case yesterday—a family of six—a widowed grandmother and mother and four fatherless children who are making a brave fight for a living. Their Christmas will be sad unless their worthiness appeals to people who believe it is better to give than to receive.

And there are other families where the mother or father has been called away. Many of these will be recipients of gfts in the form of toys, candy and clothing and Christmas dinners from Elks and other lodges and the Salvation Army. Some of them, because they are concealing their need, will be forgotten.

There are many opportunities here to pick out a needy family. If you are interested, communicate with the township trustees, Salvation Army or charitable organizations of churches. Members of these units know most of those in want. Pick out a needy family and make the members of it happy on Christmas.

The Admired Horse

Although the horse is supposed to be out of date and to have no place in daily life, particularly in cities, the horse show continues to be a popular affair. The shows held in Kansas City, Mo., recently as part of the American Royal Livestock show were largely attended by enthusiastic crowds. There were cowboy stunts, special cavalry drills and other features. In addition, there was a fine display of harness horses, three and five-gaited saddle horses, hunters and jumpers, Shetland and Welsh ponies, Hackney horses and other samples of "the cream of horseflesh." There were special $1,000 and $3,000 stake events.

And to all this many persons who have never driven or ridden a horse in their lives came and applauded enthusiastically.

The horse has long been a friend to man, and man has long admired the horse. It is possible that this element enters in making the popularity of a horse show. When people go to an automobile show they are either planning to buy cars or wishing that they might buy cars. When they go to a horse show no such practical motive impels them. NEWSY GOSSIP OF BIG CITIES

By S. J. K. HUGHES.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Dec. 11.—Science scored again when the city of Houston, threatened with the hideous yellow fever plague, the disease that created great havoc with the second expedition of Columbus, in San Domingo, in the year 1495, quickly subdued without panic and with the loss of but one life, the once terrifying malady.

Eighty-seven residents of a Houston hotel, where the first yellow fever outbreaks in years was discovered, have just been released from quarantine, after state health officers had battled the plague to rapid defeat.

The lone victim was an Italian from New Orleans, who was sick on his arrival in Texas.

Whether the disease was imported into this country through the ill-fated Columbus party, or was spawned with the delivery of slaves from the African coast, has long been a matter of conjecture in medical quarters; but its treatment, prevention and extinction have remained apace with the mighty strides of science.

Yellow fever, quick in its death-dealing and contagious qualities, once alarming to the physicians of the world, is transmitted only through the bite of a certain species of house mosquito (aedes canopus), commonly found to exist in small collections of stagnant water in such apparently harmless sources as broken bottles, roof-gutters and cisterns.

The species is a poor traveler, breeding, living and dying in a small radius, rarely traveling 75 yards from its breeding place. It seldom feeds before late afternoon, or nightfall, and is rarely found in an altitude of 3,000 feet or more.

Foresight, through drastic "anti-mosquito campaigns," had undoubtedly saved Houston and the surrounding country from the "flying death," an expression of the peon of Mexico, where the disease is ever epidemic and always a potential danger to Texas and the nation.

After the notable outbreak, in Philadelphia, of 1793, great loss of life followed in the wake of the ugly disease, although prior to that time epidemics had raged in Boston in the years 1691, 1693 and 1695. Other cities to feel is deadly fangs included New York in 1702, 1743, 1748, 1762; Philadelphia 1699, 1732, 1741, 1743, 1747 and 1762; Norfolk, Va., 1747.

The first appearance of the malady in Texas, so far as has been recorded, was in 1933 at Columbia, on the Brazos, then one of the principal ports for introducing goods into the country. Galveston and Houston were stricken in 1839, 1844 and 1949, the fever again breaking out in Galveston during 1853, 1854 and 1858; at Matagorda in 1862, and in 1863 at Sabine, Houston, Brownsville and Corpus Christi.

The sweeping epidemic of 1867 in Texas claimed more than 3,000 lives, 1,150 of these in Galveston.

Medical science first began its offensive campaign against the fever in the early 80's, followed by the exhaustive research tests of army surgeons, in the tropics and Central America, who emerged triumphant at the cost of many martyred lives.

For the more civilized areas the disease has lost much of its terror, Texas alone spending $350,000 annually to maintain a permanent corps of highly trained experts in mosquito eradication.

Perhaps the most accommodating city commission in the country functions at Plainview, Texas. If you are inclined to doubt it, question any of the more permanent residents of the Plainview jail. When the jail boarders notified the commission that they must either have a better jail or "walk out," the commission, after a hurried survey, agreed the execution of the threat would require no undue exertion and constructed a new bastile, "thoroughly modern."

Search for loving friends and relatives of Green Williams, negro, of Cuero, Texas, has practically been abandoned.

They disappeared in a southwardly direction, in a cloud of dust, early one afternoon from Williams' premature funeral. Green had died sufficiently to satisfy relatives that a funeral was necessary; but in the heat of the services, Green reared up in his casket and emitted an extremely appropriate howl of indignation. The only mourners left, in a period of less than a split second, so testify the survivors, were the old men and those who went down in the rush.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—The so-called "Long Island set" is giving Hollywood a run for high life and scandal. It has blazed into first pages with a half dozen or more salacious stories during the past summer.

It is the haven for the high-flying rich who begin the day with 4 o'clock cocktails and end it with plunges into private pools at dawn. It is the fashion for waiters in bathing suits to serve champagne in the pool.

And this resulted in one young girl swooning in deep waters and after she was rescued it was necessary to use the pulmotor to resuscitate her. A lot of the staid old Long Islanders are suggesting a Will Hays to clean up the colony.

The picadillos reached their peak when the Prince of Wales was there last summer. And while the prince is said to have conducted himself with fitting decorum it gave a lot of the high steppers a chance to step.

There was one house party that lasted for three weeks and a corps of masseurs and barbers with hot towels were on hand to bring the male guests around to consciousness each morning. The aftermath of this party was three divorce suits.

There are scores of fine homes on Long Island that are equipped with a complete bar—like those of the old days with everything in the way of liquor on hand and a fleet of day and night bartenders to attend to thirsts.

The chorus girls who used to leave the theater for the midnight clubs now find cars awaiting them to carry them off to "parties" far beyond the common rut of hospitality. Long Island homes are remaining open this fall. And this is draining high life out of New York.

He is one of those imposing figures one instinctively calls Colonel. He suggests travel and being at home in his London or New York club. He has shaggy white eyebrows and a clipped and military grizzle of a short mustache. He has four sons, all bachelors, to whom he is devoted, and when he is in New York you see them dining together, smoking long black cigars and telling stories. Not so long ago his sons announced they were going to marry. "If you feel that way I think I'll find a wife, too"—and he did. He married the telephone operator at his club, 26 years his junior.

The new term for tight-wad along Broadway is a B. B. They are the boys below the scale of the Heavy Sugar Papas and Butter and Egg Men and are designated as Bracelet Buyers. Bracelets in batches are being worn by the fair sex and the B. B. merely adds one to the collection.

Romantic New York with its tangled network of streets, some furtive and some flaunting, hides thousands of secrets of the human heart. Of all the figures moving across this panorama there are none more interesting than the subway track-walkers. Here are men whose lives are dungeoned near the first layer of a bustling city's heart but who live in lonesome darkness. It is their job to walk along and gather scraps of paper, boxes and other debris from the tracks. The only relief from the monotony is to step aside and see a train flash by. Most of them are old men and when they come out of the subway must wear dark glasses because light is painful to unaccustomed eyes.

DINNER STORIES

The flivver, containing the guide driver and a tourist, was bumping over a steep pass in the Rockies when a knocking sound became manifest. The chauffeur clambered down and made an inspection.

"Are you insured?" he asked the nervous traveler.

"Well, that's all right then," was the cheerful reply. "So's the car."

Two men, evidently business partners, took their places in the line that was wending its way toward the ticket window for the evening performance. Suddenly one of the men seemed to remember something. He clapped one hand to his forehead, gasped and in consternation said to his partner:

"Abe, I forgot to lock the safe!'

"Huh," said the other.

"Why worry about the safe ain't locked? We're both here, ain't we?"

A marriage license has been issued in Beaver to John G. Wedgewood and Miss Clara Faulk, both of this city.

Cards have been received here announcing the marriage of Miss Leynora Hill, of Wellsville, to Frank Folsome Smith, of Youngstown.

Haskin Letter

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

THE COMMON COLD

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The United States is now producing—among other things—more than 200,000,000 colds a year. This is only a rough estimate. It is a rather conservative one. The public health service is making the first nation-wide study of colds, and it has already announced that among fairly representative groups of persons only 10 per cent had no colds and the other 90 per cent had an average of almost two colds during a five-and-one-half month period.

Here, then, is a matter of interest and importance to almost the entire population of the United States. And yet doctors have not paid much attention to it, even though they realize that the common cold often leads to serious maladies. Knowledge of a subject of this sort comes only by research and study. Consequently, while the medical profession has been probing the mysteries of dreaded contagious diseases, the common cold has been treated casually, and has become commoner every year. Even now, doctors do not agree as to the causes of a cold, nor as to exactly what takes place in the body of a person who catches one.

For some reason, however, the head cold has at last gained the attention of science. The public health service is making some studies of causes and treatment in its national survey. The chemical warfare service is still experimenting with chloride gas treatment. Individual physicians are also contributing the ideas and experiences. At a convention of medical men in New Orleans a few weeks ago, a symposium on colds was a feature of the program. In Washington an interesting paper was recently read before a medical society by a physician who has been devoting a good deal of attention to the neglected subject of colds.

This physician, who is Dr. Walter A. Wells, a specialist in the diseases of the nose and throat, presented some practical views. He is of the opinion that micro-organisms have been given too much prominence as the cause of colds. Emphasis has been laid on the fact that colds are infectious, and many an individual believes that he is safe so long as he avoids being kissed by a person with a cold, and so long as he is careful in other ways not to get a knock-out dose of germs. The specialist says that this belief has led to an over-dependence upon the use of vaccine and local antiseptics in treating colds. These remedies attack the germs, but they cannot render any one invulnerable.

CHLORINE GAS TREATMENT

Chlorine gas, for instance, is being used by the war department and some doctors as a treatment for colds. About three doses are necessary to vanquish germs, and the sufferer, as a rule, is left more or less free from cold germs, for the time being. This gives his nose and throat a chance to get a fresh start, or a fresh cold, according to whether he is careful or careless in his habits.

Chlorine gas could be used in a limited way to prevent people from catching cold. It has been suggested that a very weak concentration of the gas would purify the air of theaters, churches and other crowded halls, just as a chlorine solution is used to purify water. This would tend to safeguard the persons in an audience against the colds owned by their neighbors, but it would have no permanent magic effect. Waging warfare on the bacteria is important, but the point is that the germs do not work alone.

Dr. Wells says: "Colds are directly superinduced by the joint action of micro-organisms and certain unfavorable atmospheric factors and one is as necessary as the other."

That is, the person who would avoid a cold must not only keep away from obvious sources of micro-organisms, but he must also guard against giving the cold germs that are lurking in his own head a chance to multiply and become active. Explorers find that in the Arctic regions cold germs and colds are unknown. In our climate, however, the organisms thrive, and every one breathes them. These organisms are so small that a million of them could repose on the head of a pin without being crowded, so the human nose and throat offer ample accommodation for unlimited numbers of them.

The fact that a small army of the germs holds camp in the average nose and throat does not necessarily at any rate, not at once. Here is where the other factor, atmosphere, comes in, for tiny organisms thrive sarily mean that the invaders will start trouble, and or languish according to their surroundings, as human beings do. The specialist points out that just as the eye is affected by poor light, the ear by excessively loud sound, or the stomach by bad food, so the respiratory tract is influenced by abnormal conditions in the atmosphere.

CAUSES OF COLDS

One reason why colds are so much more frequent in winter than in summer is that in winter we are constantly experiencing a striking variety of temperatures. The changes in themselves may not be dangerous, but the conditions which accompany them frequently are. Rooms that are overheated rarely have any fresh air circulating in them. The hot, still atmosphere of such a room is over-dry. With the rising temperature, the air has an increasing affinity for water vapor, and it abstracts what moisture it can from the air passages of the human beings in the room. This places a strain upon the nose and throat passages. In addition, poisons from exhalation and fuel and possibly from gas jets are being breathed. The remedy is to admit fresher, cooler air, and it is preferable to open windows and doors wide for a few minutes rather than to keep a window partly open.

This is only one of the atmospheric [illegible] which encourage cold germs to do their work. Dust raised by automobiles on a road on windy day is an irritating factor. Drafts are another.

A number of other causes of colds are more or less directly connected with the air and with external conditions. Clothing is often responsible for colds. Too heavy clothing, especially when worn indoors, interferes with the body's own method of regulating its heat. Eating too much rich food and too little of the fruits and vegetables upsets the digestive organs. When this happens "the by-products of disordered metabolism circulating in the blood give rise to constant irritation in the mucous membranes, thus leading to congestion and preparing the way for infection," says Dr. Wells.

Apparently every time a rule of hygienic living is broken it starts off a "house that Jack built" series of processes which logically ends in the all too much cold. The person who would render himself sturdily resistant to atmospheric forces plus germs should take exercise, get enough sleep, bathe frequently, wear sensible clothing, eat sensible food, and avoid badly ventilated rooms. And if after all this he does fall a victim to an attack of the germ forces, he should avoid close contact with other people so that he will not collect more germs and so that he will not scatter his own by his sneezing and coughing.

It hardly needs to be said that any one who has adenoids, enlarged tonsils, catarrh, sinus trouble, or bad teeth has a weak spot in which cold germs can readily flourish. In almost every person colds can be traced to a different combination of predisposing causes. There is sound common sense in the doctor's advice that a patient should begin to treat a cold ten years before he gets it.

Help The Needy

Two weeks from today is Christmas.

Boys and girls who still have faith in Santa Claus know that, and they are daily reminding their parents and elder brothers and sisters of the fact, so they will not be overlook when plans are made for the distribution of presents. Surprises for your family and friends, of course, will be provided, but have you thought of doing something else?

In East Liverpool as well as scores of other communities, there are many needy families who will be forgotten by Santa Claus unless some benevolent person assumes the role. The Review-Tribune cited one case yesterday—a family of six—a widowed grandmother and mother and four fatherless children who are making a brave fight for a living. Their Christmas will be sad unless their worthiness appeals to people who believe it is better to give than to receive.

And there are other families where the mother or father has been called away. Many of these will be recipients of gfts in the form of toys, candy and clothing and Christmas dinners from Elks and other lodges and the Salvation Army. Some of them, because they are concealing their need, will be forgotten.

There are many opportunities here to pick out a needy family. If you are interested, communicate with the township trustees, Salvation Army or charitable organizations of churches. Members of these units know most of those in want. Pick out a needy family and make the members of it happy on Christmas.

The Admired Horse

Although the horse is supposed to be out of date and to have no place in daily life, particularly in cities, the horse show continues to be a popular affair. The shows held in Kansas City, Mo., recently as part of the American Royal Livestock show were largely attended by enthusiastic crowds. There were cowboy stunts, special cavalry drills and other features. In addition, there was a fine display of harness horses, three and five-gaited saddle horses, hunters and jumpers, Shetland and Welsh ponies, Hackney horses and other samples of "the cream of horseflesh." There were special $1,000 and $3,000 stake events.

And to all this many persons who have never driven or ridden a horse in their lives came and applauded enthusiastically.

The horse has long been a friend to man, and man has long admired the horse. It is possible that this element enters in making the popularity of a horse show. When people go to an automobile show they are either planning to buy cars or wishing that they might buy cars. When they go to a horse show no such practical motive impels them. They go because they admire the fine horses to be seen there and because they can't help having a keen interest in them.

Diplomas by Radio

A Berlin radio station is broadcasting a university course of study, and greatly plumming itself thereupon. It does show progress for the Old World, where radio development has lagged. Several of our own universities have been doing the same thing for some time.

There is sure to be a big field for such activity from now on. Radio is particularly adapted to night school activities, at least such kinds of study as do not require the assembling of students for personal work under their instructor. Anything that can be conveyed in the form of a lecture—that is to say, a one-way lesson—can be taught by radio. And most teaching is lecturing. The student simply has to use a little more effort in applying his attention, because he lacks the stimulus of the teacher's personal presence and the opportunity to interrupt with questions.

Correspondence schools may be largely radio schools in the future. The country may be turned into one great night school, if time after dark can be spared from jazz music.

Theater men are complaining that the cross-word puzzle craze keeps people at home. That's reprehensible, but it may result in better plays.

TODAY

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

THE GREAT PACIFIC COAST

This is Los Angeles, looking out from a window of the Ambassador hotel, upon city of which the beauty and growth multiply ten fold and the wonders told of Aladdin's lamp.

Twelve hundred thousand population, as shown by the school census. That's Los Angeles.

The most important seaport in the United States, next to the port of New York. That's also Los Angeles.

Have you any manufacturing industries of importance in Los Angeles?

Have we any manufactures? This is the sixth city in the United States in manufactures and we've only started.

Stretched across the side of a small mountain outside the city you see at night an electric sign, "Hollywoodland." They offer Los Angeles bargains there. You might perhaps get an acre for $30,000.

When men living here were boys you could have bought that big hill and all the hills and mountains in sight for half of $30,000. And if you had offered such a sum the owners would have insured your life, lest you should die before completing the deal.

With the beginning of the year the rush to buy will start again.

The so-called "lull" is confined to sub-divisions that are being laid out as part of the general plan for a city of 6,000,000.

Don't laugh at the six million proposition. This town will have a population of six millions, of ten millions and more. It is utterly impossible to exaggerate the future of California, or Florida, for they will draw, as a magnet draws a tack, those that have money enough to live where they please, and here, as in Florida, the cost of living is remarkably low, less than half the cost of decent comfort in New York state, for instance.

WHERE THE DESERT REJOICES

The "desert shall rejoice," said old Isaiah.

He should have seen these "desert" plains and valleys, when water is brought to them.

You come west through so-called desert land, mountains on either side, in the distance, yellow sandy looking soil stretching away to the mountains, a few cactus and other plants that live without water, nothing else.

Suddenly on both sides of the track appear magnificently beautiful orange groves and vineyards, mile after mile, the trees laden with fruit, the grape vines cut close to the ground to grow next year's fruit bearing vines.

Between the rows of trees you see shallow ditches, a few inches deep. They mean irrigation.

The only difference between those groves and vineyards and the so-called "desert" just beyond is the difference of water and no water.

WATER LIKE KNOWLEDGE

Water does for the land what knowledge does for the human mind. "Give light (knowledge) and the people will find their own way," said Dante.

Give water to these "desert lands," add to the water a few thousand of Dante's fellow countrymen from Italy, or other good workers, and these lands will produce anything you want.

When the flying machine comes, as it will, in a few years, and people from the east fly to California as easily and quickly as they go now from New York to Washington or Newport, this country will be known to all. Meanwhile, fortunate the man that gets in ahead of the others, anywhere from San Diego on the south to Seattle on the north.

Here you cannot go wrong, whether you select the warmth of San Diego, the mild winter climate of Los Angeles, the bracing air, intense business energy, beautiful mountains covered with live oaks of the San Francisco region, or the endless possibilities of the Seattle region, destined in this writer's judgment to have the greatest port on this continent. That will come when the Pacific eclipses the Atlantic, as the Atlantic eclipsed the Mediterranean after 1492.

IT'S A GREAT COUNTRY

This land on the Pacific and the land back of it, is an empire preserved for a future population of hundreds of millions, and no imagination can even dimly foresee what it will be.

The only small cloud on the horizon, a very small one, is the rivalry between different parts of this magnificent national domain.

Every citizen of the United States should rejoice in the constantly growing prosperity of every section in the nation. All growth means increased value and the future of the entire nation.

However, rivalry means harder work, greater civic enthusiasm. So it is probably just as well to have the northern California referring to the south as collection of people from "central Iowa," and the south boasting of passing competitors in the north.

It's the whole thing that counts, and this is a great country.

He has shaggy white eyebrows and a clipped and military grizzle of a short mustache. He has four sons, all bachelors, to whom he is devoted, and when he is in New York you see them dining together, smoking long black cigars and telling stories. Not so long ago his sons announced they were going to marry. "If you feel that way I think I'll find a wife, too"—and he did. He married the telephone operator at his club, 26 years his junior.

The new term for tight-wad along Broadway is a B. B. They are the boys below the scale of the Heavy Sugar Papas and Butter and Egg Men and are designated as Bracelet Buyers. Bracelets in batches are being worn by the fair sex and the B. B. merely adds one to the collection.

Romantic New York with its tangled network of streets, some furtive and some flaunting, hides thousands of secrets of the human heart. Of all the figures moving across this panorama there are none more interesting than the subway track-walkers. Here are men whose lives are dungeoned near the first layer of a bustling city's heart but who live in lonesome darkness. It is their job to walk along and gather scraps of paper, boxes and other debris from the tracks. The only relief from the monotony is to step aside and see a train flash by. Most of them are old men and when they come out of the subway must wear dark glasses because light is painful to unaccustomed eyes.

DINNER STORIES

The flivver, containing the guide driver and a tourist, was bumping over a steep pass in the Rockies when a knocking sound became manifest. The chauffeur clambered down and made an inspection.

"Are you insured?" he asked the nervous traveler.

"Well, that's all right then," was the cheerful reply. "So's the car."

Two men, evidently business partners, took their places in the line that was wending its way toward the ticket window for the evening performance. Suddenly one of the men seemed to remember something. He clapped one hand to his forehead, gasped and in consternation said to his partner:

"Abe, I forgot to lock the safe!'

"Huh," said the other.

"Why worry about the safe ain't locked? We're both here, ain't we?"

A marriage license has been issued in Beaver to John G. Wedgewood and Miss Clara Faulk, both of this city.

Cards have been received here announcing the marriage of Miss Leynora Hill, of Wellsville, to Frank Folsome Smith, of Youngstown.

Haskin Letter

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

THE COMMON COLD

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The United States is now producing—among other things—more than 200,000,000 colds a year. This is only a rough estimate. It is a rather conservative one. The public health service is making the first nation-wide survey of colds, and it has already announced that among fairly representative groups of persons only 10 per cent had no colds and the other 90 per cent had an average of almost two colds during a five-and-one-half month period.

Here, then, is a matter of interest and importance to almost the entire population of the United States. And yet doctors have not paid much attention to it, even though they realize that the common cold often leads to serious maladies. Knowledge of a subject of this sort comes only by research and study. Consequently, while the medical profession has been probing the mysteries of dreaded contagious diseases, the common cold has been treated casually, and has become commoner every year. Even now, doctors do not agree as to the causes of a cold, nor as to exactly what takes place in the body of a person who catches one.

For some reason, however, the head cold has at last gained the attention of science. The public health service is making some studies of causes and treatment in its national survey. The chemical warfare service is still experimenting with chloride gas treatment. Individual physicians are also contributing the ideas and experiences. At a convention of medical men in New Orleans a few weeks ago, a symposium on colds was a feature of the program. In Washington an interesting paper was recently read before a medical society by a physician who has been devoting a good deal of attention to the neglected subject of colds.

This physician, who is Dr. Walter A. Wells, a specialist in the diseases of the nose and throat, presented some practical views. He is of the opinion that micro-organisms have been given too much prominence as the cause of colds. Emphasis has been laid on the fact that colds are infectious, and many an individual believes that he is safe so long as he avoids being kissed by a person with a cold, and so long as he is careful in other ways not to get a knock-out dose of germs. The specialist says that this belief has led to an over-dependence upon the use of vaccine and local antiseptics in treating colds. These remedies attack the germs, but they cannot render any one invulnerable.

CHLORINE GAS TREATMENT

Chlorine gas, for instance, is being used by the war department and some doctors as a treatment for colds. About three doses are necessary to vanquish germs, and the sufferer, as a rule, is left more or less free from cold germs, for the time being. This gives his nose and throat a chance to get a fresh start, or a fresh cold, according to whether he is careful or careless in his habits.

Chlorine gas could be used in a limited way to prevent people from catching cold. It has been suggested that a very weak concentration of the gas would purify the air of theaters, churches and other crowded halls, just as a chlorine solution is used to purify water. This would tend to safeguard the persons in an audience against the colds owned by their neighbors, but it would have no permanent magic effect. Waging warfare on the bacteria is important, but the point is that the germs do not work alone.

Dr. Wells says: "Colds are directly superinduced by the joint action of micro-organisms and certain unfavorable atmospheric factors and one is as necessary as the other."

That is, the person who would avoid a cold must not only keep away from obvious sources of the micro-organisms, but he must also guard against giving the cold germs that are lurking in his own head a chance to multiply and become active. Explorers find that in the Arctic regions cold germs and colds are unknown. In our climate, however, the organisms thrive, and every one breathes them. These organisms are so small that a million of them could repose on the head of a pin without being crowded, so the human nose and throat offer ample accommodation for unlimited numbers of them.

The fact that a small army of the germs holds camp in the average nose and throat does not necessarily any rate, not at once. Here is where the other factor, atmosphere, comes in, for tiny organisms thrive sarily mean that the invaders will start trouble, as or languish according to their surroundings, as human beings do. The specialist points out that just as the eye is affected by poor light, the ear by excessively loud sound, or the stomach by bad food, so the respiratory tract is influenced by abnormal conditions in the atmosphere.

CAUSES OF COLDS

One reason why colds are so much more frequent in winter than in summer is that in winter we are constantly experiencing a striking variety of temperatures. The changes in themselves may not be dangerous, but the conditions which accompany them frequently are. Rooms that are overheated rarely have any fresh air circulating in them. The hot, still atmosphere of such a room is over-dry. With the rising temperature, the air has an increasing affinity for water vapor, and it abstracts what moisture it can from the air passages of the human beings in the room. This places a strain upon the nose and throat passages. In addition, poisons from exhalation and fuel and possibly from gas jets are being breathed. The remedy is to admit fresher, cooler air, and it is preferable to open windows and doors wide for a few minutes rather than to keep a window partly open.

A number of other causes of colds are more or less directly connected with the air and with external conditions. Clothing is often responsible for colds. Too heavy clothing, especially when worn indoors, interferes with the body's own method of regulating its heat. Eating too much rich food and too little of the fruits and vegetables upsets the digestive organs. When this happens "the by-products of disordered metabolism circulating in the blood give rise to constant irritation in the mucous membranes, thus leading to congestion and preparing the way for infection," says Dr. Wells.

Apparently every time a rule of hygienic living is broken it starts off a "house that Jack built" series of processes which logically ends in the all too much cold. The person who would render himself sturdily resistant to atmospheric forces plus germs should take exercise, get enough sleep, bathe frequently, wear sensible clothing, eat sensible food, and avoid badly ventilated rooms. And if after all this he does fall a victim to an attack of the germ forces, he should avoid close contact with other people so that he will not collect more germs and so that he will not scatter his own by his sneezing and coughing.

It hardly needs to be said that any one who has adenoids, enlarged tonsils, catarrh, sinus trouble, or bad teeth has a weak spot in which cold germs can readily flourish. In almost every person colds can be traced to a different combination of predisposing causes. There is sound common sense in the doctor's advice that a patient should begin to treat a cold ten years before he gets it.

ATTEMPT MADE TO LOOT PLACE

Burglars Unsuccessful in Gaining Entrance to Barber Shop.

An unsuccessful attempt was made early this morning to rob the barber shop of O. H. Felton, Carolina avenue near Fourth street. The burglars tried to gain entrance from the rear but were driven off by a man who was slepeing in the building.

The culprits, it is said, built a small platform leading to a window in the rear but when they attempted to enter the noise of breaking glass awakened the man in a room near by. Becoming frightened the men ran from the premises and continued on their flight toward the railroad tracks. The shop was entered once before when a number of razors were stolen.

During the past month there has been a number of robberies committed in this city. Several weeks ago the Hagar and Newcomb homes in Carolina avenue were entered and robbed of jewelry and other articles of value. Since then several other robberies including the looting of the Davis and Dornan stores have engaged the attention of Chief of Police Brady Seevers who is running down several clues which is expected will result in solving the robberies.

WOMEN TO TAKE CENSUS OF FARMS

Women are to be employed this year for the first time in taking the federal census of farms in Ohio county and other counties of the third census district which includes Hancock county, three other counties in West Virginia and 12 counties in western Pennsylvania.

The taking of the census is expected to be completed in about 60 days.

A new ruling was made this year allowing the employment of women as enumerators. Heretofore, the work has been done by young men living on the farms, but this year the department in Washington has encouraged women to take up the work.

According to the statistics furnished by the department of commerce, bureau of the census, there were 47,431 farms in the third district in 1920, the last previous census.

As soon as the quota of 168 enumerators has been filled the taking of the census for 1924 will go forward rapidly, it is said.

Women are to be employed this year for the first time in taking the federal census of farms in Ohio county and other counties of the third census district which includes Hancock county, three other counties in West Virginia and 12 counties in western Pennsylvania.

The taking of the census is expected to be completed in about 60 days.

A new ruling was made this year allowing the employment of women as enumerators. Heretofore, the work has been done by young men living on the farms, but this year the department in Washington has encouraged women to take up the work.

According to the statistics furnished by the department of commerce, bureau of the census, there were 47,431 farms in the third district in 1920, the last previous census.

As soon as the quota of 168 enumerators has been filled the taking of the census for 1924 will go forward rapidly, it is said.

UNOFFICIAL MEET PLANNED TODAY

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—With the commissioner's chair vacant, the major leagues will hold an "unofficial" joint meeting today to determine when and where the official gathering will take place. Some discord is expected on this point as it is understood that the National league wishes to conduct the meeting at Chicago on Saturday, while the American league urges January.

Leslie M. O'Connor, secretary to Judge Landis, who was unable to appear at the current meetings owing to the illness of his wife, will represent Commissioner Landis at the conclave this afternoon.

The concession given by Santo Domingo for the establishment of telegraph and cable lines connecting that country with the United States, provides that the company shall give preference to Dominician employes as far as these are qualified for the work.

ATTEMPT MADE TO LOOT PLACE

An unsuccessful attempt was made early this morning to rob the barber shop of O. H. Felton, Carolina avenue near Fourth street. The burglars tried to gain entrance from the rear but were driven off by a man who was slepeing in the building.

The culprits, it is said, built a small platform leading to a window in the rear but when they attempted to enter the noise of breaking glass awakened the man in a room near by. Becoming frightened the men ran from the premises and continued on their flight toward the railroad tracks. The shop was entered once before when a number of razors were stolen.

During the past month there has been a number of robberies committed in this city. Several weeks ago the Hagar and Newcomb homes in Carolina avenue were entered and robbed of jewelry and other articles of value. Since then several other robberies including the looting of the Davis and Dornan stores have engaged the attention of Chief of Police Brady Seevers who is running down several clues which is expected will result in solving the robberies.

THE DOUBLE HOUSE

By Elizabeth Dejeans

Karesia's throat ached; she felt a sort of sickening pity. "It's a pretty name—Mary Bliss," she said bravely. "Come in the morning, Mary, and we will work together. Then I shall see what can be done."

Possibly Mary Bliss sensed the shrinking which Karesia was trying to hide, for she said with tremulous haste, "It's just that I forget things when I'm frightened. But I can work—hard."

"I'm sure you can, Mary," Karesia answered soothingly. "I forget things, too, sometimes.' She rose. "Don't worry—just come in the morning and I shall be here. You can help me in a number of ways. We can help each other."

The woman got up in a shaking, distressed way, then stood. "But couldn't I—wouldn't you let me stay here tonight?"

To Karesia the appeal was as unwelcome as it was unexpected. Her home was her temple, acquired with difficulty and loved intensely. Her instinct was to shut out from it all that was painful or alien. "I am afraid not," she said gently but firmly.

"I could sleep anywhere—in the house—in a chair, if you would let me," the woman begged.

"But you have a place to stay—you spoke of the garage," Karesia objected. "If you need anything tonight, I shall be glad to give it to you—food or money."

Mary Bliss was trembling from head to feet. "I'm afraid there. The woman has gone away—she's been gone for two days."

Karesia did not know what to do. How could she take into her house a half-witted woman of whom she knew nothing? She cast about for an alternative, her pity struggling with reluctance.

The woman's mumbled voice took on a sharper note. "Last night there was a man walking about and watching. He came back today and tried to get into the garage. I knew he'd hurt me. I didn't go out all day, till this evening I got out through the garage window in the back. I had to find another place, so I came here. I can't go back there! I can't—I'm afraid!"

Karesias brows lowered into a straight line. "He meant to hurt you?"

"He was watching and waiting, and he tried to get in."

"Is he some one you know?"

The answer was a wail. "I don't know—I can't remember! I think he knows me."

"What kind of a man, Mary? What did he look like?"

"A tall, big man with a long face and little eyes."

"How was he dressed?"

"In brown clothes. He had on good clothes."

"But why should he be watching you? You've done nothing wrong, have you?" Karesia Kaime with brows bent and eyes agleam and an edge of white teeth showing was a very different person from the softly smiling, sleepy-eyed woman who had looked over her fan at the glowing room; or the compassionate woman who had brought Mary Bliss into her house. One discovered suddenly that there were red flecks in her hazel eyes and a bronze tinge in her hair; fighting blood in her, something tigerish, defiant, and ready to spring.

Mary Bliss gasped and retreated a step in abject terror. "No! No! All I've ever done is to work—just work——"

"I'm not angry with you!" Karesia said swiftly. "I'd like to see the man who would attempt to hurt a crippled woman—and I in reach of him!" She drew a quick breath and calmed suddenly. "Now stop being frightened, Mary, and just answer my questions as well as you can. If I take you in here, it is only right that I should know. Where was your home and who are your people?"

Evidently Mary Bliss had been questioned in this way before, for she brought forth the small notebook hurriedly. "'I grew up in an orphans' home in Montreal, Canada. The mark on my face is a birthmark,'" she quoted. Then she held the book to her breast. her filmed eyes on Karesia. "Then I worked for people in the country. Some people I worked for brought me on the train to a farm here. Then they sold it and didn't want me any longer and went away. Then I walked to—here." She spoke as if she were concentrating every faculty she possessed on what she was saying. "I've worked wherever people would let me stay. I haven't any people."

"Do you know the name of the asylum where you were as a child?" Karesia asked.

"No," she said in distress.

"Nor the places where you have worked, or the names of the people?"

"No," she confessed, looking more and more terrified. "Oh, no, I can't!" She looked as if she would collapse.

Karesia could not go on with it; it was like applying torture. "We won't talk any more," she said soothingly. "I will take you upstairs and you must remember that you are safe with me." She could not do otherwise. The woman made her heart ache. Possibly in the long past she had committed a crime; there was no telling what her past had been, but her present need was evident enough. "You have a home here, Mary," she promised her.

A faint flush rose in the woman's white cheek. "Thank you—very much. I'll work hard for you."

"We'll both have a good night's sleep first, I hope." Then it occurred to Karesia. "But you have none of your things!"

For the first time, Karesia saw in the filmed eyes a flash of something that was not fear; a flicker of pride over an accomplishment. "I brought them with me. They're in the corner by the porch." Mary Bliss might be half-witted, but what she had determined upon she had accomplished; she had sought shelter and had found it.

When, mindful of the "watching and waiting" man, Karesia herself went for the bundle and brought it in, a shawl wrapped about some clothing, her sense of humor asserted itself; she was having a housewarming, after all! She lost her faint smile, however, as she watched Mary Bliss' bent body toiling up the stairs, her poor bundle hugged to her. And when she ushered her into the snow-white room with its as snowy bathroom beyond, and Mary Bliss stood transfixed, the tears pricked Karesia's eyelids.

BIGGEST EDIFICE EVER BUILT MARKED MAKING OF "TEN COMMANDMENTS"

The biggest edifice ever built for a picture and the largest working company ever taken on location, marked the making of the Biblical story in the first part of Cecil B. De Mille's production, "The Ten Commandments," which will be shown at the Ceramic theatre, starting Thursday. The building was the 'City of Rameses" four miles from Gumdaloupe, California, and the people who worked in and around it constituted a location party of 5,000 persons.

The site chosen is one of the most desolate Coast stretches between Los Angeles and San Francisco. It was however, deemed the best possible spot to film Israel's story in Egypt, the treasure city built by their forced labor, and the escape under Moses from the Land of Bondage. All the work people and all the materials had to be brought from Los Angeles 200 miles away.

Compared with the celebrated "Robin Hood" castle that Douglas Fairbanks built, "Rameses" had thrice the area and probably trebled the cost. It was approached by an avenue of twenty-four Sphinxes, and the portals were guarded by four huge colossi of the Pharaohs. Half a million feet of lumber and three hundred tons of plaster went into the main frontage which was 750 feet long by 109 feet high.

Besides the mechanics and trtisans of all sorts, 3,000 players ewre used. Unlike most movie locations, there was no means of accommodating them on the countryside. Consequently, a great Tent City had to be set up alongside the Egyptian one. It was supplied by the De Mille engineers with all the public utilities. Two mess halls seating a thousand diners each, 125 skilled chefs, an abattoir and a commissary supplying tons of daily rations, were other features. And the live stock, including Pharaoh's chariot horses and the flocks and herds of the Israelites, consumed ten tons of hay per diem.

The above enterprise was used by exactly eighteen days of filming Israel in Egypt. At the end of that time it was dismantled, and little trace of Rameses now remains. adv.

Dawes Pipe Replaces Cigarettes in Ohio; Many Being Sold

LIMA, O. — The "fag" is slowly being discarded in favor of the wholesome smoke afforded by the pipe.

Popularity of the cigar, however, has not suffered. The average smoker always finds solace in a good after-dinner smoke, dealers said.

Tax Rates Climb.

BARNESVILLE, O. — Barnesville vies with St. Clairsville for the distinction of having the highest tax rate in Belmont county for the coming year, the levies just announced being $28 per $1,000 of property valuation in each town. Locally the largest amount, $9.65 per $1,000, goes for municipal purposes, with schools second, receiving $7.35.

Historic Lighthouse Doomed.

Henlopen Lighthouse, which has guided mariners of the Atlantic Ocean at Delaware Bay since 1764, faces momentary destruction because the ocean is so rapidly tearing away the land upon which it is built. When originally constructed it was 1400 feet back from the water, but today it is scarcely 10 feet from the water's edge. It is the second oldest beacon in America.

MOORE'S

The Stockton
A Berkey and Gay Dining Suite

Unheralded and unknown to the world at large, there was born in the little town of Stockton-on-tees, in the year 1751, Thomas Sheraton, a man whose name was destined for immortality, through his furniture creations.

Poorly educated and of a strange blend of mechanic, inventor, artist, mystic and religious controversalist, his achievements as cabinetmaker and his creation in wood and varnish have become envied models of beauty and refinement.

In the "Stockton" suite for the dining room, the Berkey and Gay designers have embodied many of the Sheraton characteristics, emphasized in the true proportion of the pieces and in the use and combination of rare woods. This last characteristic is especially noticeable in the "Stockton," for in these pieces will be found striped and butt walnut, mottled mahogany, maple burl, and zebrawood; as well as the less rare but equally as dependable woods, birch and gum.

The sideboard of this Berkey and Gay suite has been especially equipped for the housekeeper's convenience. The right hand compartment is fitted with two solid mahogany trays, made unusually deep, for the storage of linens or glassware. WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT, BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

The biggest edifice ever built for a picture and the largest working company ever taken on location, marked the making of the Biblical story in the first part of Cecil B. De Mille's production, "The Ten Commandments," which will be shown at the Ceramic theatre, starting Thursday. The building was the 'City of Rameses" four miles from Gumdaloupe, California, and the people who worked in and around it constituted a location party of 5,000 persons.

The site chosen is one of the most desolate Coast stretches between Los Angeles and San Francisco. It was however, deemed the best possible spot to film Israel's story in Egypt, the treasure city built by their forced labor, and the escape under Moses from the Land of Bondage. All the work people and all the materials had to be brought from Los Angeles 200 miles away.

Compared with the celebrated "Robin Hood" castle that Douglas Fairbanks built, "Rameses" had thrice the area and probably trebled the cost. It was approached by an avenue of twenty-four Sphinxes, and the portals were guarded by four huge colossi of the Pharaohs. Half a million feet of lumber and three hundred tons of plaster went into the main frontage which was 750 feet long by 109 feet high.

Besides the mechanics and trtisans of all sorts, 3,000 players ewre used. Unlike most movie locations, there was no means of accommodating them on the countryside. Consequently, a great Tent City had to be set up alongside the Egyptian one. It was supplied by the De Mille engineers with all the public utilities. Two mess halls seating a thousand diners each, 125 skilled chefs, an abattoir and a commissary supplying tons of daily rations, were other features. And the live stock, including Pharaoh's chariot horses and the flocks and herds of the Israelites, consumed ten tons of hay per diem.

The above enterprise was used by exactly eighteen days of filming Israel in Egypt. At the end of that time it was dismantled, and little trace of Rameses now remains. adv.

Dawes Pipe Replaces Cigarettes in Ohio; Many Being Sold

LIMA, O. — The "fag" is slowly being discarded in favor of the wholesome smoke afforded by the pipe.

Local tobacco dealers state that Lima's youths have been buying pipes of various styles since the first photograph of General Charles G. Dawes, vice-president-elect, appeared in print during the recent presidential campaign.

The Dawes favorite—with stem at the top of the bowl—has been very popular with young men here. Approximately 500 of this type were sold in Lima during the past two months.

Popularity of the cigar, however, has not suffered. The average smoker always finds solace in a good after-dinner smoke, dealers said.

Tax Rates Climb.

BARNESVILLE, O. — Barnesville vies with St. Clairsville for the distinction of having the highest tax rate in Belmont county for the coming year, the levies just announced being $28 per $1,000 of property valuation in each town. Locally the largest amount, $9.65 per $1,000, goes for municipal purposes, with schools second, receiving $7.35.

The Stockton
A Berkey and Gay Dining Suite

Unheralded and unknown to the world at large, there was born in the little town of Stockton-on-tees, in the year 1751, Thomas Sheraton, a man whose name was destined for immortality, through his furniture creations.

Poorly educated and of a strange blend of mechanic, inventor, artist, mystic and religious controversalist, his achievements as cabinetmaker and his creation in wood and varnish have become envied models of beauty and refinement.

In the "Stockton" suite for the dining room, the Berkey and Gay designers have embodied many of the Sheraton characteristics, emphasized in the true proportion of the pieces and in the use and combination of rare woods. This last characteristic is especially noticeable in the "Stockton," for in these pieces will be found striped and butt walnut, mottled mahogany, maple burl, and zebrawood; as well as the less rare but equally as dependable woods, birch and gum.

The sideboard of this Berkey and Gay suite has been especially equipped for the housekeeper's convenience. The right hand compartment is fitted with two solid mahogany trays, made unusually deep, for the storage of linens or glassware. The compartment to the left is fitted with shallower solid mahogany tray, mahogany lined and partitioned, for the holding of silver.

The finish of the "Stockton" is varnish rubbed by hand to a velvety smooth, dull gloss finish, not only bringing out the full glory of the many woods, but also thoroughly in keeping with the design.

WOMAN FILES DIVORCE SUIT

Seeks Freedom From Same Man for Second Time.

Florence Peppel and her husband, Marcus O. Peppel, have been married twice, and now for the second time within the past two and one-half years, she appeals to the court here for a divorce, alimony and restoration to her former name, Florence Johnson.

The Peppels lived for many years after their first marriage in December, 1901, in Salem township, near Leetonia, until in April, 1922, when his wife came into court here and obtained a divorce because of extreme cruelty. They were separated about 17 months when she says Peppel again persuaded her to marry him, promising to treat her kindly and to fulfil his duties as a husband at all times. She believed him, and on Sept. 17, 1923, she again married him.

Only a short time after, she says, he again began treating her cruel and refused to provide for her, forcing her to live in one room in Salem, instead of in their home in Leetonia, where he lived only over week-ends when he would visit her. The wife states that the husband owns property valued at $10,000 besides personal property and she asks alimony. Peppel is now living at the home of Silas Peppel, north of Lisbon, near the White church.

Undergoes Operation.

Dan Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Miller, West Lincoln way, underwent a serious operation in a hospital at University, Va., Tuesday for acute appendicitis, and a telegram from there to Mr. Miller states that he is getting along as well as can be expected.

The young man is a student at the University of Virginia and has recently suffered several attacks of appendicitis.

DIVORCE, ALIMONY SOUGHT BY WOMAN

Zora Flecker of Salem, it is alleged, who was driven from her home in that city about two weeks ago by her husband, Benjamin Flecker, has appealed to the court here for a divorce and alimony, and on her application an injunction has been granted which will serve to restrain him from abusing her or interfering with her in any manner until the final hearing of the case.

They were married in Lisbon on the 29th of last May, the wife states, and even during the short period of her married life, she tells the court that her husband has been cruel and abusive, and been grossly neglectful. On the 6th of this month he drove her from their home and refused to allow her to live there any longer, and has refused to permit her to go back and secure her clothes and other belongings which are in the house.

On Friday morning at 10 o'clock there will be a hearing in court here on an application made by the wife for temporary alimony.

HEAVY DAMAGE SUIT IS FILED

Jerry W. Veon, of East Palestine, has demanded $25,000 through the court here from the Pennsylvania Railroad company for the death of his son, Herman M. Veon, 31, who was almost instantly killed by a Pennsylvania company train at East Palestine on November 15th.

The young man for some time prior to his death was employed by the railroad company as a track repairman, and on the day of his death was at work about one mile west of the East Palestine station, when an east bound freight train came down upon him and struck him. He was thrown a distance from the tracks and was so seriously injured that he died within a short time.

Granted Divorce.

Gross neglect of his duty as a husband, charged against Ben H. Smith, of Calcutta, won for his wife, Rachel Smith, a divorce in common pleas court today. The custody of four boys ranging in age from 3 to 8 years, was also given to the wife.

They were married in Lisbon on August 19, 10 years ago, the wife stated to the court.

Man Seeks Freedom.

Anthony H. Holloway of East Palestine, married his wife, Pearl, on the 11th of last February, and then found out that she had one husband living at the time he married her. They separated at once, and when he last heard from her she was living in Hillsboro, Georgia. He has now asked the court here to dissolve his marriage.

To Stand Trial.

Delbert Callahan of Salem was before Judge Lodge Riddle on a charge of non-support of his minor child, and has signified his intention of standing trial. Callahan was before the court some time ago charged with the same offense, but at that time was allowed to go under continuance of the case on his promise to pay an amount agreed upon.

Quick Way To Break Heavy Cough

Here is the method, which is based on a remarkable prescription known as Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs: You simply take one teaspoonful and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing, without following with water. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals soreness and inflammation, but also loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing. When the cause is removed, the severest cough quickly disappears.

This treatment is for coughs, chest colds, tickling, sore throat, hoarseness, bronchitis, spasmodic croup, etc. Recommended for children as well as grown folks—no narcotics or opiates. Economical, too, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. At all good druggists. Ask for

Florence Peppel and her husband, Marcus O. Peppel, have been married twice, and now for the second time within the past two and one-half years, she appeals to the court here for a divorce, alimony and restoration to her former name, Florence Johnson.

The Peppels lived for many years after their first marriage in December, 1901, in Salem township, near Leetonia, until in April, 1922, when his wife came into court here and obtained a divorce because of extreme cruelty. They were separated about 17 months when she says Peppel again persuaded her to marry him, promising to treat her kindly and to fulfil his duties as a husband at all times. She believed him, and on Sept. 17, 1923, she again married him.

Only a short time after, she says, he again began treating her cruel and refused to provide for her, forcing her to live in one room in Salem, instead of in their home in Leetonia, where he lived only over week-ends when he would visit her. The wife states that the husband owns property valued at $10,000 besides personal property and she asks alimony. Peppel is now living at the home of Silas Peppel, north of Lisbon, near the White church.

Quick Way To Break Heavy Cough

Many have been astonished how quickly a bad cough disappears when treated with a new double-action treatment that is simple but wonderfully effective.

Here is the method, which is based on a remarkable prescription known as Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs: You simply take one teaspoonful and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing, without following with water. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals soreness and inflammation, but also loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing. When the cause is removed, the severest cough quickly disappears.

This treatment is for coughs, chest colds, tickling, sore throat, hoarseness, bronchitis, spasmodic croup, etc. Recommended for children as well as grown folks—no narcotics or opiates. Economical, too, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. At all good druggists. Ask for

Zora Flecker of Salem, it is alleged, who was driven from her home in that city about two weeks ago by her husband, Benjamin Flecker, has appealed to the court here for a divorce and alimony, and on her application an injunction has been granted which will serve to restrain him from abusing her or interfering with her in any manner until the final hearing of the case.

They were married in Lisbon on the 29th of last May, the wife states, and even during the short period of her married life, she tells the court that her husband has been cruel and abusive, and been grossly neglectful. On the 6th of this month he drove her from their home and refused to allow her to live there any longer, and has refused to permit her to go back and secure her clothes and other belongings which are in the house.

On Friday morning at 10 o'clock there will be a hearing in court here on an application made by the wife for temporary alimony.

WOMAN FILES DIVORCE SUIT

Florence Peppel and her husband, Marcus O. Peppel, have been married twice, and now for the second time within the past two and one-half years, she appeals to the court here for a divorce, alimony and restoration to her former name, Florence Johnson.

The Peppels lived for many years after their first marriage in December, 1901, in Salem township, near Leetonia, until in April, 1922, when his wife came into court here and obtained a divorce because of extreme cruelty. They were separated about 17 months when she says Peppel again persuaded her to marry him, promising to treat her kindly and to fulfil his duties as a husband at all times. She believed him, and on Sept. 17, 1923, she again married him.

Only a short time after, she says, he again began treating her cruel and refused to provide for her, forcing her to live in one room in Salem, instead of in their home in Leetonia, where he lived only over week-ends when he would visit her. The wife states that the husband owns property valued at $10,000 besides personal property and she asks alimony. Peppel is now living at the home of Silas Peppel, north of Lisbon, near the White church.

Quick Way To Break Heavy Cough

Many have been astonished how quickly a bad cough disappears when treated with a new double-action treatment that is simple but wonderfully effective.

Here is the method, which is based on a remarkable prescription known as Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs: You simply take one teaspoonful and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing, without following with water. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals soreness and inflammation, but also loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing. When the cause is removed, the severest cough quickly disappears.

This treatment is for coughs, chest colds, tickling, sore throat, hoarseness, bronchitis, spasmodic croup, etc. Recommended for children as well as grown folks—no narcotics or opiates. Economical, too, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. At all good druggists. Ask for

Zora Flecker of Salem, it is alleged, who was driven from her home in that city about two weeks ago by her husband, Benjamin Flecker, has appealed to the court here for a divorce and alimony, and on her application an injunction has been granted which will serve to restrain him from abusing her or interfering with her in any manner until the final hearing of the case.

They were married in Lisbon on the 29th of last May, the wife states, and even during the short period of her married life, she tells the court that her husband has been cruel and abusive, and been grossly neglectful. On the 6th of this month he drove her from their home and refused to allow her to live there any longer, and has refused to permit her to go back and secure her clothes and other belongings which are in the house.

On Friday morning at 10 o'clock there will be a hearing in court here on an application made by the wife for temporary alimony.

Sewickley High Cagers Booked As First Foes For Locals

Contest Arranged As Workout Prior to Regular 'Sked'

Squad of Approximately 25 Players at Work Each Afternoon in Preparation for Saturday Night Engagement; Majority of Whom Will be Retained Until After Holidays.

In a "try-out" game preparatory to the opening of the regular schedule next week, Coach O. V. Boone's high school cagers will tackle the Sewickley (Pa.) scholastic quintet Saturday night on the local school gym.

The clash with the Sewickley five is designed primarily as a test game in which Coach Boone will endeavor to get a definite line on his basketball prospects with a view to organizing his first and second string squads.

This move, coming as it does a week prior to the contest at New Castle, in which every ounce of talent which may be forthcoming from the squad at this early part of the season, certainly will be needed, is expected to put the squad in better shape than it would have been otherwise.

The squad of approximately 25 players is working out each afternoon on the school gymnasium under the supervision of Coach Boone. Not until after the holidays, according to the high school mentor's plans, will the paring sart. A large traveling squad will be taken to New Castle.

The clash is set for Friday, December 19.

It will be the first time for Curtain in this part of the country as he has been cavorting mainly in the east. He's a real fighter with a pleasing personality and a reputation for geting more return bouts than any other bantam in the game.

Midget Mike O'Dowd will meet Mickey Dugan in the semi-final, with Eddie Bowen, of Sharon, and Tim Drexler, of McKeesport, tangling in the second bout.

The opener will feature Sammy Marisco of Elyria against Young Meenahan, Farrell, Pa., lightweight.

It will be remembered that this pair put on one of the greatest six round scraps ever seen in Youngstown. Marisco was given a slight shade in their first meeting. At the last show the pair met in what was to have been a 10-round affair, but Meenahan, after being on the floor, swung a mean right to Marisco's chin and the lights went out for the Elyria battler. Marisco still claims the punch was a fluke and is hankering for another crack at Meenahan.

Gibbons-Norfolk Go Nets $22,607 For Benefit Fund

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—The Christmas fund boxing show which saw Tom Gibbons and Tiger Flowers gain sensational knockout victories, netted the fund a total of $22,607, according to the official figures made public today.

Flowers' knockout of Johnny Wilson, formerly middleweight champion, made a championship match with Harry Greb inevitable, according to well informed boxing men. The general opinion was that Flowers is the best looking prospect to appear in a New York ring in recent years.

Shanks Goes to New York For McNally

The deal, which was consummated yesterday, saw the transfer of Mike McNally, Yankee third baseman, to the Boston Red Sox, in trade for Shanks.

East is a utility infielder and both are American league veterans.

Shanks served close to 10 years with the Washington Senators before going to the Red Sox, while McNally was with Boston for many years before becoming a member of the Huggins club.

Shanks, say the experts, is the better batter of the two, while McNally's forte is speed.

STATE OBERLIN ON BOLE'S CARD

WOOSTER, Dec. 11.—The return of Oberlin to Wooster's football schedule and another game with Ohio State are the high spots of the 1925 football schedule which Coach L. C. Boles has just completed for the Wooster squad. Oberlin will play at Wooster Oct. 10 and plans will soon be started to make this the homecoming game for Wooster alumni.

Wooster's 7 to 7 tie with Ohio State last season seemed to convince all that Wooster merited another chance on the Big Buckeye schedule for the coming season. Wooster will play at State at Columbus Oct. 31.

Coach Boles has eight games booked for this coming season. As usual Wooster will open with the strong Ashland college eleven at Wooster Sept. 26. Then Wooster will launch into a series of hard games with conference teams. Case, Oberlin, Reserve and Mt. Union must all be played before Wooster tackles Ohio States.

Eleven members of the past season's varsity squad will be lost by graduation. Just what Boles will find to replace these men is a big question on the Wooster campus. Boles loses five regulars who will be mighty hard to replace in Gabriel at center, Manly at guard, Flattery at tackle and Captain Starn and Hurst from the backfield.

Wooster's 1925 football schedule:

Sept. 26—Ashland.
Oct. 3—Case.
Oct. 10—Oberlin.
Oct. 17—Reserve at Cleveland.
Oct. 24—Mt. Union.
Oct. 31—Ohio State at Columbus.
Nov. 7—Not to be filled.
Nov. 14—Akron at Akron.
Nov. 21—Denison.

BIG YANKEE DEAL BREWING, REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 11—A big major league trade with the Yankees the center of attraction, may be consummated before or after the "unoffical" joint meeting this afternoon. Miller Huggins held successive conferences with Tris Speaker, of the Indians; George Sisler, of the Browns; and Connie Mack, of the Athletics, at yesterday's sessions and the tip is hot that something big will happen before the memers break for home tonight.

Huggins is also angling for Joe Boley, Baltimore shortstop, and may get him. His main problem is to obtain a man to replace Everett Scott, at shortstop.

Will This $175,000 Pony Battery Repay Connie Mack For Outlay?

Here are Lefty Groves, southpaw pitcher, and Gordon Cochrane, star backstop, for whom Connie Mack has paid an estimated price of $175,000. Next season will tell whether or not it was a good investment. Connie is taking a chance despite the failure of the $50,000 Paul Strand to deliver.

Pick Notre Dame to Defeat Stanford In Pasadena Game

But Rockne Must Reckon on Nevers, Coast's Star Back.

By COPELAND C. BURG.

PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 11—When Knute Rockne's rollicking horsemen galloped into the Rose Bowl here on New Year's Day in an attempt to twist the tails of Pop Warner's Leland Starford Cardinals it will be the first time the Catholics have played on the Pacific Coast and the third time a leading eleven from the Middle West has clashed with a California team.

In 1894 Stanford defeated Chicago in a post-season tilt and in 1921 the University of California humbled Ohio State, 28 to 0.

Harvard has defeated Oregon. Oregon smashed the University of Pennsylvania, and Washington State has taken Brown into camp in other noteworthy East-West contests, but memories of these games will be dimmed by the Notre Dame-Stanford clash.

Never has interest in football been as keen on the slopes of the Pacific as this year and never has a game de luxe, such as the Rose Bowl battle, been offered at the season's finale.

Stanford, should it lose to Notre Dame, and it doesn't look in the cards as though anything else could happen, will have no regrets. The Pa o Alto institution has an eleven of veterans, one of the strongest Redshirt teams in history.

Stanford's great drive from behind to finish its game with California in a 20-20 score makes Warner's outfit the strongest team west of the Rockies, with the possible exception of Andy Smith's Golden Bears. Smith's team, as the Californa-Stanford game demonstrated, hasn't the reserve power of the Cardinals. Neither has California such smashing ends as Stanford, nor as brilliant passing backs. Nor has California a Nevers.

Nevers Coast's Star.

Ernie Nevers, Stanford's huge fullback, is the greatest individual player the west has ever produced—the coast's "Red" Grange. Like Grange, he has been stopped already this season, and Notre Dame's smashers may stop him again. Injured three times this season, Nevers was out of all of Stanford's big games, but he is expected to be in fine fettle for the Pasadena fray.

Sending Stanford against the powerful champions from Indiana will not bother Glenn Scobey Warner, the dean of American football coaches. It's an old story for him, dating back to 1899, when Warner brought the Carlisle Indians to San Francisco and Redwater and a few other players with picturesque names defeated California 2 to 0.

Warner came to Stanford this year and his success has been remarkable. He went through the season without a defeat, and as an anticlimax to the Notre Dame game, stopped California's long string of victories.

Stanford, with Warner as mentor, boasts interesting coaching history. No less personages than Walter Camp, who picks All-American elevens from a typewriter pitched not far from New Haven, and Fielding Yost, the great Michigander, years ago paved the way for Warner at Stanford.

Camp, for the first time since he became famous as a picker of mythical elevens, visited the Pacific coast this season and may sit in at the death New Year's day.

Notre Dame will enter the lists a slight favorite, at least among the intelligencia of the gridiron.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—According to William Harridge, official mouthpiece for the American league executive headquarters, a "general discussion of current affairs" preceded the adoption of the American league resolution commending the Landis regime at yesterday's meeting.

The resolution was a slap in Johnson's executive face, but the Harridge statement made it appear that the blow was delivered with a velvet glove. My information is quite to the contrary.

This statement was credited to Charles Comiskey, Chicago owner and die-hard of the anti-Johnson clan, following the meeting which is said to have been a most uncomfortable one for Ban. The "Old Roman" delivered his blast in the presence of a few intimate friends, according to the good word emanating from the baseball belt late last night.

The "general discussion" of which Harridge spoke, saw Comiskey stand up on his feet 45 minutes and hit his ancient foe, fore and aft, with verbal cannister. So, at any rate, say those whose word in these matters is above reproach. When he had finished, the resolution was passed. It was unanimous, according to Harridge.

Later, Comiskey is reported to have made these remarks:

"Johnson called our esteemed leader, Landis, a 'crazy nut.' This man Johnson has done more to hurt the game in recent years than any other influence. He should be kicked out, right now."

Comiskey, it seems, was not wholly in accord with the resolution, although he cast his vote for it. He did not think that it went far enough. The Old Roman was attending his first meeting in four years and he did not come on from Chicago just for the sake of a train ride.

He had important business to transact and part of it was the demand that Johnson prove his oft-repeated claim that he, Johnson, was responsible for the expose of the 1919 world series scandal. It seemed to be Comiskey's idea that he himself had something to do with the exhuming of the diseased remains and went on to tell Ban about it at great detail. Johnson, meantime, is said to have maintained a dignified silence.

Farm laborers of Italy are refusing to go to France to work, saying that the pay of $50 a month and board and lodging is not enough.

E. PALESTINE LOSES CENTER

Orndorff, Cage Star, is Declared Ineligible.

EAST PALESTINE, Dec. 11.—The biggest blow that has struck the high school basketball team this year fell Monday when school officials announced that Stewart Orndorff, star center on last year's team and former Cambridge high performer, had been declared ineligible for the five this year. A minor physical ailment was given as the cause of this action.

Orndorff, an experienced and able player, was to have been the main cog in the basketball machine being drilled to withstand the onslaught of the various county teams this winter and his loss will be sorely felt.

At Cambridge high school, Orndorff developed into one of the best scholastic players in the southeastern part of the state. Last winter he made the local varsity squad with little trouble and his work was one of the biggest factors accountable for the excellent showing made by the five last year.

This season he was breaking away to a good start when the announcement of his ineligibility was made.

With the center position left vacant by Orndorff, staring him in the face, Coach Knesal's job of developing a fast team to care for the strong county schedule drawn up, has been doubled. Reagle or Kirtley will probably be shifted to center, while the work of relining the team is in progress. Who will get the position permanently will depend on the form shown by the various aspirants in the future practices and in the few games preceding the start of the county clashes.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—The Christmas fund boxing show which saw Tom Gibbons and Tiger Flowers gain sensational knockout victories, netted the fund a total of $22,607, according to the official figures made public today.

Flowers' knockout of Johnny Wilson, formerly middleweight champion, made a championship match with Harry Greb inevitable, according to well informed boxing men. The general opinion was that Flowers is the best looking prospect to appear in a New York ring in recent years.

Shanks Goes to New York For McNally

The deal, which was consummated yesterday, saw the transfer of Mike McNally, Yankee third baseman, to the Boston Red Sox, in trade for Shanks.

East is a utility infielder and both are American league veterans.

Shanks served close to 10 years with the Washington Senators before going to the Red Sox, while McNally was with Boston for many years before becoming a member of the Huggins club.

Shanks, say the experts, is the better batter of the two, while McNally's forte is speed.

STATE OBERLIN ON BOLE'S CARD

WOOSTER, Dec. 11.—The return of Oberlin to Wooster's football schedule and another game with Ohio State are the high spots of the 1925 football schedule which Coach L. C. Boles has just completed for the Wooster squad. Oberlin will play at Wooster Oct. 10 and plans will soon be started to make this the homecoming game for Wooster alumni.

Wooster's 7 to 7 tie with Ohio State last season seemed to convince all that Wooster merited another chance on the Big Buckeye schedule for the coming season. Wooster will play at State at Columbus Oct. 31.

Coach Boles has eight games booked for this coming season. As usual Wooster will open with the strong Ashland college eleven at Wooster Sept. 26. Then Wooster will launch into a series of hard games with conference teams. Case, Oberlin, Reserve and Mt. Union must all be played before Wooster tackles Ohio States.

Eleven members of the past season's varsity squad will be lost by graduation. Just what Boles will find to replace these men is a big question on the Wooster campus. Boles loses five regulars who will be mighty hard to replace in Gabriel at center, Manly at guard, Flattery at tackle and Captain Starn and Hurst from the backfield.

Wooster's 1925 football schedule:

Sept. 26—Ashland.
Oct. 3—Case.
Oct. 10—Oberlin.
Oct. 17—Reserve at Cleveland.
Oct. 24—Mt. Union.
Oct. 31—Ohio State at Columbus.
Nov. 7—Not to be filled.
Nov. 14—Akron at Akron.
Nov. 21—Denison.

BIG YANKEE DEAL BREWING, REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 11—A big major league trade with the Yankees the center of attraction, may be consummated before or after the "unoffical" joint meeting this afternoon. Miller Huggins held successive conferences with Tris Speaker, of the Indians; George Sisler, of the Browns; and Connie Mack, of the Athletics, at yesterday's sessions and the tip is hot that something big will happen before the memers break for home tonight.

Huggins is also angling for Joe Boley, Baltimore shortstop, and may get him. His main problem is to obtain a man to replace Everett Scott, at shortstop.

Will This $175,000 Pony Battery Repay Connie Mack For Outlay?

Here are Lefty Groves, southpaw pitcher, and Gordon Cochrane, star backstop, for whom Connie Mack has paid an estimated price of $175,000. Next season will tell whether or not it was a good investment. Connie is taking a chance despite the failure of the $50,000 Paul Strand to deliver.

By COPELAND C. BURG.

PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 11—When Knute Rockne's rollicking horsemen galloped into the Rose Bowl here on New Year's Day in an attempt to twist the tails of Pop Warner's Leland Starford Cardinals it will be the first time the Catholics have played on the Pacific Coast and the third time a leading eleven from the Middle West has clashed with a California team.

In 1894 Stanford defeated Chicago in a post-season tilt and in 1921 the University of California humbled Ohio State, 28 to 0.

Harvard has defeated Oregon. Oregon smashed the University of Pennsylvania, and Washington State has taken Brown into camp in other noteworthy East-West contests, but memories of these games will be dimmed by the Notre Dame-Stanford clash.

Never has interest in football been as keen on the slopes of the Pacific as this year and never has a game de luxe, such as the Rose Bowl battle, been offered at the season's finale.

Stanford, should it lose to Notre Dame, and it doesn't look in the cards as though anything else could happen, will have no regrets. The Pa o Alto institution has an eleven of veterans, one of the strongest Redshirt teams in history.

Stanford's great drive from behind to finish its game with California in a 20-20 score makes Warner's outfit the strongest team west of the Rockies, with the possible exception of Andy Smith's Golden Bears. Smith's team, as the California-Stanford game demonstrated, hasn't the reserve power of the Cardinals. Neither has California such smashing ends as Stanford, nor as brilliant passing backs. Nor has California a Nevers.

Nevers Coast's Star.

Ernie Nevers, Stanford's huge fullback, is the greatest individual player the west has ever produced—the coast's "Red" Grange. Like Grange, he has been stopped already this season, and Notre Dame's smashers may stop him again. Injured three times this season, Nevers was out of all of Stanford's big games, but he is expected to be in fine fettle for the Pasadena fray.

Sending Stanford against the powerful champions from Indiana will not bother Glenn Scobey Warner, the dean of American football coaches. It's an old story for him, dating back to 1899, when Warner brought the Carlisle Indians to San Francisco and Redwater and a few other players with picturesque names defeated California 2 to 0.

Warner came to Stanford this year and his success has been remarkable. He went through the season without a defeat, and as an anticlimax to the Notre Dame game, stopped California's long string of victories.

Stanford, with Warner as mentor, boasts interesting coaching history. No less personages than Walter Camp, who picks All-American elevens from a typewriter pitched not far from New Haven, and Fielding Yost, the great Michigander, years ago paved the way for Warner at Stanford.

Camp, for the first time since he became famous as a picker of mythical elevens, visited the Pacific coast this season and may sit in at the death New Year's day.

Notre Dame will enter the lists a slight favorite, at least among the intelligencia of the gridiron.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—According to William Harridge, official mouthpiece for the American league executive headquarters, a "general discussion of current affairs" preceded the adoption of the American league resolution commending the Landis regime at yesterday's meeting.

The resolution was a slap in Johnson's executive face, but the Harridge statement made it appear that the blow was delivered with a velvet glove. My information is quite to the contrary.

"Johnson should be kicked out of baseball."

This statement was credited to Charles Comiskey, Chicago owner and die-hard of the anti-Johnson clan, following the meeting which is said to have been a most uncomfortable one for Ban. The "Old Roman" delivered his blast in the presence of a few intimate friends, according to the good word emanating from the baseball belt late last night.

The "general discussion" of which Harridge spoke, saw Comiskey stand up on his feet 45 minutes and hit his ancient foe, fore and aft, with verbal cannister. So, at any rate, say those whose word in these matters is above reproach. When he had finished, the resolution was passed. It was unanimous, according to Harridge.

Later, Comiskey is reported to have made these remarks:

"Johnson called our esteemed leader, Landis, a 'crazy nut.' This man Johnson has done more to hurt the game in recent years than any other influence. He should be kicked out, right now."

Comiskey, it seems, was not wholly in accord with the resolution, although he cast his vote for it. He did not think that it went far enough. The Old Roman was attending his first meeting in four years and he did not come on from Chicago just for the sake of a train ride.

He had important business to transact and part of it was the demand that Johnson prove his oft-repeated claim that he, Johnson, was responsible for the expose of the 1919 world series scandal. It seemed to be Comiskey's idea that he himself had something to do with the exhuming of the diseased remains and went on to tell Ban about it at great detail. Johnson, meantime, is said to have maintained a dignified silence.

Farm laborers of Italy are refusing to go to France to work, saying that the pay of $50 a month and board and lodging is not enough.

E. PALESTINE LOSES CENTER

Orndorff, Cage Star, is Declared Ineligible.

EAST PALESTINE, Dec. 11.—The biggest blow that has struck the high school basketball team this year fell Monday when school officials announced that Stewart Orndorff, star center on last year's team and former Cambridge high performer, had been declared ineligible for the five this year. A minor physical ailment was given as the cause of this action.

Orndorff, an experienced and able player, was to have been the main cog in the basketball machine being drilled to withstand the onslaught of the various county teams this winter and his loss will be sorely felt.

At Cambridge high school, Orndorff developed into one of the best scholastic players in the southeastern part of the state. Last winter he made the local varsity squad with little trouble and his work was one of the biggest factors accountable for the excellent showing made by the five last year.

This season he was breaking away to a good start when the announcement of his ineligibility was made.

At his position of center, Orndorff proved to be a natural born player. An uncanny eye for sinking the ball at the needed team and a strong defensive art, made him an exceedingly valuable man for the team.

With the center position left vacant by Orndorff, staring him in the face, Coach Knesal's job of developing a fast team to care for the strong county schedule drawn up, has been doubled. Reagle or Kirtley will probably be shifted to center, while the work of relining the team is in progress. Who will get the position permanently will depend on the form shown by the various aspirants in the future practices and in the few games preceding the start of the county clashes.

Sewickley High Cagers Booked As First Foes For Locals

Squad of Approximately 25 Players at Work Each Afternoon in Preparation for Saturday Night Engagement; Majority of Whom Will be Retained Until After Holidays.

In a "try-out" game preparatory to the opening of the regular schedule next week, Coach O. V. Boone's high school cagers will tackle the Sewickley (Pa.) scholastic quintet Saturday night on the local school gym.

Manager Bruce Perry and school athletic officials completed negotiations for the appearance of the Pennsylvanians here, yesterday morning.

The clash with the Sewickley five is designed primarily as a test game in which Coach Boone will endeavor to get a definite line on his basketball prospects with a view to organizing his first and second string squads.

This move, coming as it does a week prior to the contest at New Castle, in which every ounce of talent which may be forthcoming from the squad at this early part of the season, certainly will be needed, is expected to put the squad in better shape than it would have been otherwise.

The squad of approximately 25 players is working out each afternoon on the school gymnasium under the supervision of Coach Boone. Not until after the holidays, according to the high school mentor's plans, will the paring sart. A large traveling squad will be taken to New Castle.

Faculty Manager Hall will distribute season tickets today and tomorrow, through pupils to prospective purchasers.

CURTIN-STOY AT YOUNGSTOWN

Bantams Will Headline All-star Program for Dec. 19.

YOUNGSTOWN, Dec. 11—Katchmaker Al Zill has lined up one of the great est cards of the season for this part of the state with the booking of practically an all-star card from start to finish, headlined by Irish Johnny Curtin, one of the leading batamweights of the country, and Tiger Rosy Stoy, the Pennsylvania Dutchman. The clash is set for Friday, December 19.

It will be the first time for Curtain in this part of the country as he has been cavorting mainly in the east. He's a real fighter with a pleasing personality and a reputation for geting more return bouts than any other bantam in the game.

Stoy's ability is known to fight fans in Youngstown and vicinity and as a result they are looking forward to a classy battle.

Midget Mike O'Dowd will meet Mickey Dugan in the semi-final, with Eddie Bowen, of Sharon, and Tim Drexler, of McKeesport, tangling in the second bout.

The opener will feature Sammy Marisco of Elyria against Young Meenahan, Farrell, Pa., lightweight.

It will be remembered that this pair put on one of the greatest six round scraps over seen in Youngstown. Marisco was given a slight shade in their first meeting. At the last show the pair met in what was to have been a 10-round affair, but Meenahan, after being on the floor, swung a mean right to Marisco's chin and the lights went out for the Elyria battler. Marisco still claims the punch was a fluke and is hankering for another crack at Meenahan.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—According to William Harridge, official mouthpiece for the American league executive headquarters, a "general discussion of current affairs" preceded the adoption of the American league resolution commending the Landis regime at yesterday's meeting.

The resolution was a slap in Johnson's executive face, but the Harridge statement made it appear that the blow was delivered with a velvet glove. My information is quite to the contrary.

"Johnson should be kicked out of baseball."

This statement was credited to Charles Comiskey, Chicago owner and die-hard of the anti-Johnson clan, following the meeting which is said to have been a most uncomfortable one for Ban. The "Old Roman" delivered his blast in the presence of a few intimate friends, according to the good word emanating from the baseball belt late last night.

The "general discussion" of which Harridge spoke, saw Comiskey stand up on his feet 45 minutes and hit his ancient foe, fore and aft, with verbal cannister. So, at any rate, say those whose word in these matters is above reproach. When he had finished, the resolution was passed. It was unanimous, according to Harridge.

Later, Comiskey is reported to have made these remarks:

"Johnson called our esteemed leader, Landis, a 'crazy nut.' This man Johnson has done more to hurt the game in recent years than any other influence. He should be kicked out, right now."

Comiskey, it seems, was not wholly in accord with the resolution, although he cast his vote for it. He did not think that it went far enough. The Old Roman was attending his first meeting in four years and he did not come on from Chicago just for the sake of a train ride.

He had important business to transact and part of it was the demand that Johnson prove his oft-repeated claim that he, Johnson, was responsible for the expose of the 1919 world series scandal. It seemed to be Comiskey's idea that he himself had something to do with the exhuming of the diseased remains and went on to tell Ban about it at great detail. Johnson, meantime, is said to have maintained a dignified silence.

Farm laborers of Italy are refusing to go to France to work, saying that the pay of $50 a month and board and lodging is not enough.

E. PALESTINE LOSES CENTER

Orndorff, Cage Star, is Declared Ineligible.

EAST PALESTINE, Dec. 11.—The biggest blow that has struck the high school basketball team this year fell Monday when school officials announced that Stewart Orndorff, star center on last year's team and former Cambridge high performer, had been declared ineligible for the five this year. A minor physical ailment was given as the cause of this action.

Orndorff, an experienced and able player, was to have been the main cog in the basketball machine being drilled to withstand the onslaught of the various county teams this winter and his loss will be sorely felt.

At Cambridge high school, Orndorff developed into one of the best scholastic players in the southeastern part of the state. Last winter he made the local varsity squad with little trouble and his work was one of the biggest factors accountable for the excellent showing made by the five last year.

This season he was breaking away to a good start when the announcement of his ineligibility was made.

At his position of center, Orndorff proved to be a natural born player. An uncanny eye for sinking the ball at the needed team and a strong defensive art, made him an exceedingly valuable man for the team.

With the center position left vacant by Orndorff, staring him in the face, Coach Knesal's job of developing a fast team to care for the strong county schedule drawn up, has been doubled. Reagle or Kirtley will probably be shifted to center, while the work of relining the team is in progress. Who will get the position permanently will depend on the form shown by the various aspirants in the future practices and in the few games preceding the start of the county clashes.

Distillery Vat a Fount.

Baptists at Greenbier, Tenn., have made novel use of a distillery vat at that place. They have pressed it into service as a baptismal fount. The vat at one time produced whisky famous by name throughout the country, but has been idle for some time.

ESKIMO SCION STAR GRIDDER

Tosses Football Like Forbears Hurled Spear.

PULLMAN, Wash., Dec. 11.—When Lumwakin, the Eskimo, hurled his spear with unerring accuracy, the throw was vital to that leading citizen of the Arctic circle. It means a seal, and the seal meant life for him and his family waiting in the igloo.

Years later when Lumwakin's grandson, Joe Koenig, threw a football with the same unerring accuracy as his grandsire, that throw was vital, also, for it means a possible touchdown for Washington State college.

Koenig is the Eskimo gridiron find of A. A. Exendine, former Carlisle star and All-American end. Joe was developed by the Cougar coach over night.

This northerner can forward pass a football with the speed and control that pays tribute to old Lumwakin, his forefather. Koenig can pass in a rain storm when less confident opponents are afraid of the aerial game. He simply lays the ball in his hand and throws it, instead of gripping it like must hurlers.

In the late 60s Joe's father left his home at Westphalia, Germany, as a whaling captain. For 14 years he sailed in and out of Behring Strait. Then up near Barrel Point, north of Nome, Alaska, at the little settlement of Beacon Hill, he married an Eskimo girl. When their son, Franz Joseph, was a year old, in 1904, the Koenigs came to the United States and settled down on the Pacific Coast. Their present home is Nisqually, Washington.

Koenig is a sophomore at college. Last year he first showed his football ability in freshman competition. The first of this season he turned out on the varsity squad and looked good for a regular berth, when injuries kept him off the field. Next year, wonders are expected of him at the right halfback position.

An Eskimo football find, Koenig is the first of that race to distinguish himself at the college sport classic, and takes his place in the record book with the Indian, the Negro and the Japanese.

NET PLAYERS MUST BEHAVE

Really, Old Thing, Cussin' Women Partners Isn't Right.

By F. A. Wray.

LONDON, Dec. 11.— Lawn tennis players in Britain must mend their manners. That is the decision of the Lawn Tennis Association, the final authority on the game. In future, offenders are to be indefinitely suspended from play in any tournaments.

The complaint against players' manners arose from the Lawn Tennis Referees' Association. These officials stated that some of the leading players in British tennis were frequently guilty of foul language in the course of a match; that some of them made a habit of attempting to intimidate referees and dispute their decisions; and that in seven cases, in mixed doubles, women players have left the courts in tears on account of their partner's behavior.

Experienced officials state that this kind of thing has only sprung up since the war, when a new generation of players entered the game. In more remote times it was a point of honor in lawn tennis in England that no player should make any comment on a game while it was in progress and never, in any way, question any referee's decision.

At the present time, especially in the lesser tournaments, some players regard the game as an occasion for a prolonged argument, intermingled with abuse either of partner or opponent.

The new rules laid down by the Tennis Association are stern and stringent. It is decided that any player who "by word or action" offends against the spirit of the game, or against the instincts of good sportsmanship, can be instantly disqualified from the tournament in which he happens to be playing.

In bad cases he can be suspended forthwith for an indefinite time, and in the worst instance the association will debar him from taking any further part in the game at all.

The newspapers appeal both to local and central authorities not to be lenient. The general opinion of tennis players is that this is a growing evil which must be stamped out once and for all.

Grave Digger Out of Job.

Because the people in Alken, Germany die so very occesionally, the official grave digger of the community has had to quit his job and seek other work in order to live. Thirteen months elapsed without a death and he write to the city council giving up his place as he could not conscientiously accept the salary they offered when he had no work to do.

HEALTH SEAL APPEAL ISSUED

Support of Fight Against Tuberculosis Urged.

Mrs. J. M. Todd, secretary of the Hancock County Tuberculosis league, today makes an appeal to the people of Newell and Grant district to purchase Christmas health seals. The drive here is in charge of Mrs. Joseph. Wells. Mrs. Todd's statement follows:

"For the last year and a half, Dr. Chetwynd, of East Liverpool, has performed all operations, free of charge, for the children of indigent parents, in the upper end of Hancock county.

Dr. Campbell, of Steubenville, has done the same for children in the lower part of the county. The Rotary club of Wheeling has paid the hospital expenses of all children sent to Wheeling for treatment from this county, and Dr. Swinn has performed the operations. The Rotarians have also furnished several pairs of very expensive shoes, made to measure for the correction of deformed feet of our children.

"Are we going to permit people from other states and counties to be more generous to our sick and crippled children of poor parents than we are ourselves?"

"The Hancock County Tuberculosis league is trying to raise a fund from the sale of Christmas Seals for the purpose of paying hospital fees, dental work ,spectacles, tooth brushes, hot cocoa for undernourished school children, health posters, and anything to promote the health of the children of our county."

"The answer is, "Buy Christmas Seals." We need more money to carry on the program. We fell behind our quota last year. Let's go over the top this year."

Chinese Civilization Ancient.

When the people in almost all of Europe were still wearing skins for clothes the Chinese were a highly cultured people. While Europe was just getting acquainted with the crudest of tools, Chinese artisans were using highly developed implements for skilled work, thus showing that the Chinese civilization is one of the very ancient.

ESKIMO SCION STAR GRIDDER

Tosses Football Like Forbears Hurled Spear.

PULLMAN, Wash., Dec. 11.—When Lumwakin, the Eskimo, hurled his spear with unerring accuracy, the throw was vital to that leading citizen of the Arctic circle. It means a seal, and the seal meant life for him and his family waiting in the igloo.

Years later when Lumwakin's grandson, Joe Koenig, threw a football with the same unerring accuracy as his grandsire, that throw was vital, also, for it means a possible touchdown for Washington State college.

Koenig is the Eskimo gridiron find of A. A. Exendine, former Carlisle star and All-American end. Joe was developed by the Cougar coach over night.

This northerner can forward pass a football with the speed and control that pays tribute to old Lumwakin, his forefather. Koenig can pass in a rain storm when less confident opponents are afraid of the aerial game. He simply lays the ball in his hand and throws it, instead of gripping it like must hurlers.

In the late 60s Joe's father left his home at Westphalia, Germany, as a whaling captain. For 14 years he sailed in and out of Behring Strait. Then up near Barrel Point, north of Nome, Alaska, at the little settlement of Beacon Hill, he married an Eskimo girl. When their son, Franz Joseph, was a year old, in 1904, the Koenigs came to the United States and settled down on the Pacific Coast. Their present home is Nisqually, Washington.

Koenig is a sophomore at college. Last year he first showed his football ability in freshman competition. The first of this season he turned out on the varsity squad and looked good for a regular berth, when injuries kept him off the field. Next year, wonders are expected of him at the right halfback position.

An Eskimo football find, Koenig is the first of that race to distinguish himself at the college sport classic, and takes his place in the record book with the Indian, the Negro and the Japanese.

NET PLAYERS MUST BEHAVE

Really, Old Thing, Cussin' Women Partners Isn't Right.

By F. A. Wray.

LONDON, Dec. 11.— Lawn tennis players in Britain must mend their manners. That is the decision of the Lawn Tennis Association, the final authority on the game. In future, offenders are to be indefinitely suspended from play in any tournaments.

The complaint against players' manners arose from the Lawn Tennis Referees' Association. These officials stated that some of the leading players in British tennis were frequently guilty of foul language in the course of a match; that some of them made a habit of attempting to intimidate referees and dispute their decisions; and that in seven cases, in mixed doubles, women players have left the courts in tears on account of their partner's behavior.

Experienced officials state that this kind of thing has only sprung up since the war, when a new generation of players entered the game. In more remote times it was a point of honor in lawn tennis in England that no player should make any comment on a game while it was in progress and never, in any way, question any referee's decision.

At the present time, especially in the lesser tournaments, some players regard the game as an occasion for a prolonged argument, interminglied with abuse either of partner or opponent.

The new rules laid down by the Tennis Association are stern and stringent. It is decided that any player who "by word or action" offends against the spirit of the game, or against the instincts of good sportsmanship, can be instantly disqualified from the tournament in which he happens to be playing.

In bad cases he can be suspended forthwith for an indefinite time, and in the worst instance the association will debar him from taking any further part in the game at all.

The newspapers appeal both to local and central authorities not to be lenient. The general opinion of tennis players is that this is a growing evil which must be stamped out once and for all.

Grave Digger Out of Job.

Because the people in Alken, Germany die so very occesionally, the official grave digger of the community has had to quit his job and seek other work in order to live. Thirteen months elapsed without a death and he wrote to the city council giving up his place as he could not conscientiously accept the salary they offered when he had no work to do.

Woman Has Crow for Pet.

Mrs. Mary A. Whittener of Whittener, Ark., has a pet crow that roams the woods by day with its wild kin, but invariably comes to her door at sundown. It caws to be let in and fed after which it flies away. The crow allows no one but Mrs. Whittener to touch it.

HEALTH SEAL APPEAL ISSUED

Support of Fight Against Tuberculosis Urged.

Mrs. J. M. Todd, secretary of the Hancock County Tuberculosis league, today makes an appeal to the people of Newell and Grant district to purchase Christmas health seals. The drive here is in charge of Mrs. Joseph. Wells. Mrs. Todd's statement follows:

"For the last year and a half, Dr. Chetwynd, of East Liverpool, has performed all operations, free of charge, for the children of indigent parents, in the upper end of Hancock county.

Dr. Campbell, of Steubenville, has done the same for children in the lower part of the county. The Rotary club of Wheeling has paid the hospital expenses of all children sent to Wheeling for treatment from this county, and Dr. Swinn has performed the operations. The Rotarians have also furnished several pairs of very expensive shoes, made to measure for the correction of deformed feet of our children.

"Are we going to permit people from other states and counties to be more generous to our sick and crippled children of poor parents than we are ourselves?"

"The Hancock County Tuberculosis league is trying to raise a fund from the sale of Christmas Seals for the purpose of paying hospital fees, dental work ,spectacles, tooth brushes, hot cocoa for undernourished school children, health posters, and anything to promote the health of the children of our county."

"The answer is, "Buy Christmas Seals." We need more money to carry on the program. We fell behind our quota last year. Let's go over the top this year."

SCHOOL PUPILS TO GET HOLIDAYS

Chinese Civilization Ancient.

When the people in almost all of Europe were still wearing skins for clothes the Chinese were a highly cultured people. While Europe was just getting acquainted with the crudest of tools, Chinese artisans were using highly developed implements for skilled work, thus showing that the Chinese civilization is one of the very ancient.

ESKIMO SCION STAR GRIDDER

Tosses Football Like Forbears Hurled Spear.

PULLMAN, Wash., Dec. 11.—When Lumwakin, the Eskimo, hurled his spear with unerring accuracy, the throw was vital to that leading citizen of the Arctic circle. It means a seal, and the seal meant life for him and his family waiting in the igloo.

Years later when Lumwakin's grandson, Joe Koenig, threw a football with the same unerring accuracy as his grandsire, that throw was vital, also, for it means a possible touchdown for Washington State college.

Koenig is the Eskimo gridiron find of A. A. Exendine, former Carlisle star and All-American end. Joe was developed by the Cougar coach over night.

This northerner can forward pass a football with the speed and control that pays tribute to old Lumwakin, his forefather. Koenig can pass in a rain storm when less confident opponents are afraid of the aerial game. He simply lays the ball in his hand and throws it, instead of gripping it like must hurlers.

In the late 60s Joe's father left his home at Westphalia, Germany, as a whaling captain. For 14 years he sailed in and out of Behring Strait. Then up near Barrel Point, north of Nome, Alaska, at the little settlement of Beacon Hill, he married an Eskimo girl. When their son, Franz Joseph, was a year old, in 1904, the Koenigs came to the United States and settled down on the Pacific Coast. Their present home is Nisqually, Washington.

Koenig is a sophomore at college. Last year he first showed his football ability in freshman competition. The first of this season he turned out on the varsity squad and looked good for a regular berth, when injuries kept him off the field. Next year, wonders are expected of him at the right halfback position.

An Eskimo football find, Koenig is the first of that race to distinguish himself at the college sport classic, and takes his place in the record book with the Indian, the Negro and the Japanese.

NET PLAYERS MUST BEHAVE

Really, Old Thing, Cussin' Women Partners Isn't Right.

By F. A. Wray.

LONDON, Dec. 11.— Lawn tennis players in Britain must mend their manners. That is the decision of the Lawn Tennis Association, the final authority on the game. In future, offenders are to be indefinitely suspended from play in any tournaments.

The complaint against players' manners arose from the Lawn Tennis Referees' Association. These officials stated that some of the leading players in British tennis were frequently guilty of foul language in the course of a match; that some of them made a habit of attempting to intimidate referees and dispute their decisions; and that in seven cases, in mixed doubles, women players have left the courts in tears on account of their partner's behavior.

Experienced officials state that this kind of thing has only sprung up since the war, when a new generation of players entered the game. In more remote times it was a point of honor in lawn tennis in England that no player should make any comment on a game while it was in progress and never, in any way, question any referee's decision.

At the present time, especially in the lesser tournaments, some players regard the game as an occasion for a prolonged argument, intermingled with abuse either of partner or opponent.

The new rules laid down by the Tennis Association are stern and stringent. It is decided that any player who "by word or action" offends against the spirit of the game, or against the instincts of good sportsmanship, can be instantly disqualified from the tournament in which he happens to be playing.

In bad cases he can be suspended forthwith for an indefinite time, and in the worst instance the association will debar him from taking any further part in the game at all.

The newspapers appeal both to local and central authorities not to be lenient. The general opinion of tennis players is that this is a growing evil which must be stamped out once and for all.

Grave Digger Out of Job.

Because the people in Alken, Germany die so very occesionally, the official grave digger of the community has had to quit his job and seek other work in order to live. Thirteen months elapsed without a death and he write to the city council giving up his place as he could not conscientiously accept the salary they offered when he had no work to do.

Woman Has Crow for Pet.

Mrs. Mary A. Whittener of Whittener, Ark., has a pet crow that roams the woods by day with its wild kin, but invariably comes to her door at sundown. It caws to be let in and fed after which it flies away. The crow allows no one but Mrs. Whittener to touch it.

HEALTH SEAL APPEAL ISSUED

Support of Fight Against Tuberculosis Urged.

Mrs. J. M. Todd, secretary of the Hancock County Tuberculosis league, today makes an appeal to the people of Newell and Grant district to purchase Christmas health seals. The drive here is in charge of Mrs. Joseph Wells. Mrs. Todd's statement follows:

"For the last year and a half, Dr. Chetwynd, of East Liverpool, has performed all operations, free of charge, for the children of indigent parents, in the upper end of Hancock county.

Dr. Campbell, of Steubenville, has done the same for children in the lower part of the county. The Rotary club of Wheeling has paid the hospital expenses of all children sent to Wheeling for treatment from this county, and Dr. Swinn has performed the operations. The Rotarians have also furnished several pairs of very expensive shoes, made to measure for the correction of deformed feet of our children.

"Are we going to permit people from other states and counties to be more generous to our sick and crippled children of poor parents than we are ourselves?"

"The Hancock County Tuberculosis league is trying to raise a fund from the sale of Christmas Seals for the purpose of paying hospital fees, dental work ,spectacles, tooth brushes, hot cocoa for undernourished school children, health posters, and anything to promote the health of the children of our county."

"The answer is, "Buy Christmas Seals." We need more money to carry on the program. We fell behind our quota last year. Let's go over the top this year."

Chinese Civilization Ancient.

When the people in almost all of Europe were still wearing skins for clothes the Chinese were a highly cultured people. While Europe was just getting acquainted with the crudest of tools, Chinese artisans were using highly developed implements for skilled work, thus showing that the Chinese civilization is one of the very ancient.

TIMELY VIEWS ON WORLD TOPICS

"TURBULENCE IN EGYPT EXPRESSES TRANSITION TO NEW IDEALS," SAYS COLLEGE HEAD.

Egypt, for the first time in her centuries of varied history, is in a state of transition to the modern, dropping the shackles of her past and seeking to start life anew.

Robert S. McClenahan, dean of the American university at Cairo and for more than thirty-five years an educator in Egypt, pointed in a recent address to this transition as the cause for the recent sputtering of a flame of nationalist feeling that has seethed for years.

Mr. McClenahan is in the U. S. to confer with interests associated with the university—men whose efforts joined with groups in many cities to establish the institution in 1916.

"The affair in Egypt is not rebellion; I see it as the turbulent condition of a people who are modernizing at last," Mr. McClenahan said.

Britain's Entry in 1882.

"British first entered Egypt in 1882 to quell a rebellion and bloody argument with Turkey. It was the understanding of a great many people that within a few years, with the restoration of order, the British would withdraw. They have been forty-two years policing Egypt.

"The Khedive of Egypt was deposed by British proclamation in 1914. His uncle became sultan—a new title. Upon his death another member of the family became sultan, and in 1922 the sultan was proclaimed king, the first king Egypt had had in centuries.

"The proclamation of the British declared Egypt independent. There were four conditions, however, and upon these hatred has fed itself.

These reservations, he said, were settlement of the control or the Sudan; clearance of a public debt, held principally by British, of about 91,000,000, pounds; guarantee of safety for foreigners in Egypt and British control of all land necessary to communication with the far east. This involved the Suez canal, army and naval bases and wireless stations.

Why Bleachodent Whitens Teeth Instantly—Safely

No need now for dark, spotty, yellowish or tobacco-stained teeth. Nor no need to scour teeth with gritty abrasives, which injure enamel. Bleachodent Combination, a prescription of two prominent dentists, whitens teeth by dissolving the stains, with no effect on enamel. Leaves teeth flashing white, lustrous, clean. Helps prevent pyorrhea and tooth decay. Fine for gums. Say goodbye to discolored teeth, which spoil your looks, and injure popularity. Get Bleachodent Combination today, at all good dealers, such as: C. G. Anderson, Bulger's Phormacy, Herche's Drug Store, Hodson's Drug Store, Carnahan-Guskes Drug Co.
